Grocers May Increase Prices Under Capehart Amendment

OPS Says Appeal Is to Be Asked From Court Order on Foods

Washington, May 6 (AP)—A court ruling that wholesale and retail grocers may seek higher price ceilings under the Capehart amendment may have cleared the way for a big increase in the price of many food items.

The Office of Price Stabilization said today the Justice Department will be asked to appeal the decision, of the Emergency Court of Appeals, to the Supreme Court.

The Emergency Court held yesterday that the Capehart amendment to the economic controls law applies to wholesalers and retailers as well as manufacturers and processors.

The court thus upheld the contention of Safeway Stores, Inc., big food chain, that grocers are entitled to higher ceilings for such things as cereals, syrups, oils, canned and processed foods, noodles, flour, soups, condensed milk and jellies.

Adjustments Granted

The amendment grants price adjustments in the ceilings of "any material" other than an agricultural commodity on the basis of rising costs to the seller. This permits addition to pre-Korean prices of any such costs to last July 26.

OPS had rejected the Safeway claim. The price agency argued the language of the Capehart amendment applied only to manufacturers and processors who have been given the right to seek higher ceilings.

James A. Durham, OPS assistant chief counsel, said that "if the Supreme Court upholds the decision it may mean a big increase in the price of food items.

Search Continues For Three Students

Ground Activity Goes on—Little Hope Is Held

Basin Harbor, Vt., May 6 (AP)—Fraternity brothers, state police and fish and game department wardens continued today a search for three University of Vermont students missing since they went out on Lake Champlain in a boat Sunday.

The missing trio is Vincent P. Farmer, Jr., 18, Hackensack, N. J.; Joseph L. Rusch, Jr., 24, Tenafly, N. J., and William Rotchford, 23, of Hartsdale, N. Y.

State police believed there was little hope the youths had survived. Their boat was found on the New York shore.

Private planes were used in an air search of the lake surface.

Police said the lake was from 200 to 300 feet deep off this resort village and dragging operations were not feasible.

Naval reserve and air force groups ended their part in the search.

The 14-foot outboard motor boat in which the three set out Sunday drifted ashore yesterday near Westport, N. Y., more than a mile across the lake.

Officer to Relate Defense Lessons Of Pearl Harbor

An Air Force officer who was on active duty at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, tonight will tell local aircraft spotters some of the lessons he learned about air defense when that base was attacked without warning by the Japanese.

The officer is Lt. Col. Maurice A. Broner, who is now director of Civil Air Defense on the staff of Brig. Gen. R. J. Minty, commanding general of the 26th Air Division (Defense), with headquarters at Roslyn.

He will address members of Kingston's ground observers corps at a special meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel tonight at 7:45 o'clock.

In a letter received today by Mrs. George Dewey Logan, post supervisor, from the 26th Air Division headquarters, Col. Broner is termed "one of the most qualified officers in the U. S. Air Force on matters pertaining to civil air defense."

Engaged in Planning

As result of his experiences during the few months preceding the attack and the few hours immediately after the attack, Col. Broner has been engaged in planning civilian air defense for this area the past three years—based upon the lessons learned in those opening days of America's participation in World War 2.

He is "fully congnizant of the problems, capabilities and potentialities of ground observer corps in the area," the letter stated.

In addition to being on Gen. Minty's staff, Col. Broner commands eight Air Force Filter Centers from New Haven, Conn., to Roanoke, Va., with a total civilian enrollment of approximately 8,000 volunteers. He is a resident of Long Island, and will motor here for the meeting.

The meeting will be held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel at 7:45 p. m. Mrs. Logan has requested all post officers to report at 7 p. m.

Final Church Session

San Francisco, May 6 (AP)—The Methodist General Conference swung into its final session today after dealing decisively with the touchy question of the church attitude toward the unofficial Methodist Federation for Social Action. The 720 delegates listened intently yesterday afternoon to debate on the federation, which was charged with following left-wing policies. Then they voted overwhelmingly to ask the federation to drop Methodist from its title and vacate offices in the Methodist building, New York. Before the conference today was the question whether to drop the no smoking pledge required of ministerial candidates. Delegates also will discuss ministerial rights for woman and act on statements on national and international affairs.

Tokyo, May 6 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme United Nations commander and head of the United States forces in Japan, will leave Monday en route to his new assignment as supreme allied commander in Europe. An army announcement said he would leave the United States May 24 to take the post left vacant by the resignation of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. The army Said Gen. Mark W. Aircraft Carrier Reaches Harbor With 61 Survivors

Hobson Crew to Undergo Naval Inquiry and Then Receive Time Off

New York, May 6 (AP)—The battered aircraft carrier Wasp, bringing home 61 survivors of the sunken destroyer minesweeper Hobson, arrived in New York harbor at 7:30 a. m. (EST) today.

The 61—176 of the Hobson's crew perished—will be witnesses at a Naval Court of Inquiry into the cause of the collision between the Wasp and the converted destroyer the night of April 26 during Atlantic maneuvers.

Relatives were waiting to meet the survivors at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Navy tugs were in the bay, waiting for the big warship to anchor before bringing the survivors to the navy yard.

The carrier, her bow broken in the collision, will remain in Gravesend Bay, perhaps for two days, while her ammunition is being unloaded. Then she will go into drydock in the naval shipyard annex at Bayonne, N. J.

Also at Pearl Harbor

In the group of waiting relatives were the wives of two survivors who also had survived the Pearl Harbor attack.

Mrs. Glenda Manning said her husband, Harry K. Manning, 29, a boatswain's mate, was on the battleship Nevada, sunk at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 9, 1941.

Fuel Pinch Is Hitting Motorists

Military and Civilian Air Transport Both Affected by Strike of Oil Industry

Warning Given

Federal Officials Are in Disagreement on Rationing Plan

Denver, May 6 (AP) — A major part of the nation's oil industry ended its first strike bound week today with federal government officials apparently in disagreement over the prospects of gasoline rationing.

Most seriously affected, so far, was air transport, both civilian and military. Motorists, however, were beginning to feel the pinch in some areas.

An encouraging glimmer came from California where the Independent Union of Petroleum Works settled with two companies.

In an interview in New Orleans James E. Knudson, administrator of the Defense Transportation Administration, warned:

"If the oil strike goes on a few more days, we may have to put some restrictions on civilian transportation."

The restrictions would be similar to World War 2 ration card system, Knudson said.

Shortages Scattered

Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman said the government is not planning on national rationing of automobile gasoline, despite scattered shortages.

Chapman said he agreed with Bruce K. Brown, deputy administrator of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, that it would take too long to set up a rationing program.

A 30 per cent cut in gasoline for civil aviation purposes was ordered by the PAD, effective today at 3:01 a. m. (EST).

The U. S. Air Force earlier ordered a cut in training flights to conserve gasoline. The navy said messages have gone out to continental bases to curtail all but essential flying.

Order Cuts

Investigators Turn To Others; Nunan Is Unwilling Witness

Keating Says Idea Was to Use Morris To Flatten Probe

McGrath Said New Yorker Was Under Check for Part in Tanker Business

Refuses Answers on Queries About His Personal Income

Washington, May 6 (AP)—House tax scandal investigators switched to new targets today after fruitless efforts to get former Revenue Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., to talk about his personal finances.

Three, possibly four, new charges of mishandled tax cases were reported next on the agenda of the House Ways and Means Investigating subcommittee.

What the new probe involves was not disclosed. But it was expected to be in the nature of a "cleanup" operation in the committee's long run on the tax scandal circuit.

What was considered to be the last major phase of the committee's inquiry into Revenue Bureau irregularities wound up with a minimum of fanfare late yesterday with Nunan in the witness chair.

Nunan told the house investigators he thinks there are "possible crimes" for which he could be indicted.

Spars Over Details

The acknowledgment came as Nunan sparred over details of his six-figure personal income. He refused to answer a series of pointed questions about the sources of it.

After Nunan had cited the fourth, fifth and sixth amendments to the Constitution in support of his position, Adrian DeWind, committee counsel, asked him if he thought there were "any possible crimes for which you could be indicted?"

"Yes, sir, I think there are," Nunan answered, flushing. He did not go into any details.

Nunan "respectfully" declined to answer questions about any of the financial transactions traced to him by agents between 1945 and 1950—including $161,609 in cash and checks which agents could not pin to any identifiable source.

Rejects Claim

At the outset, Nunan rejected the committee's claim of authority to air his private affairs while he is the subject of a pending grand jury investigation in New York.

Chairman King (D.-Calif.) said he thought it was "a sad state of affairs" when a former public official "would choose to decline to cooperate with this committee in furnishing information."

The committee questioned Nunan for more than four hours on his activities as commissioner from March, 1944, to June, 1947, and as a lawyer practicing before the treasury after he left office.

The former tax chief firmly denied allegations that his tax clients received preferred treatment from the revenue bureau, or that he improperly represented taxpayers in cases which had been pending while he was commissioner.

Backs Contention

King backed Nunan's contention that he was within the law in obtaining waivers to act as a tax attorney before the bureau within two years of leaving office.

King said the bureau had in-

New Paltz Man Gives Plea of Innocent

Trenton, N. J., May 6 (AP)—Pvt. Robert L. Williams of Ft. Dix has pleaded innocent to a federal charge of killing a sergeant.

Federal Judge Phillip Forman heard the plea yesterday and then returned Williams to the Mercer county jail to await trial in June.

Williams, who lived in New Paltz, N. Y., is charged with the fatal beating of Sgt. Herman Weiner, 52, of Philadelphia, last Feb. 3. Weiner was found dead in his barracks bed.

Williams, 28, was arrested together with Pfc. Fio J. Rastellini, 20, as they were driving in New Paltz in Weiner's car. Both denied any knowledge of the death.

Rastellini is being held as a material witness.

Woman, 24, Gives Police Tipoff on Variety of Crimes

Maine Resident Quizzed on Schuster Slaying, Denies Knowing Him or Sutton

Providence, R. I., May 6 (AP)—Police said today the 24-year-old girl friend of a notorious New York gangster friend of Willie "The Actor" Sutton had given them information that might solve several New York and New Jersey crimes.

The woman, questioned at Taunton, Mass., police headquarters by New York and Massachusetts detectives, was identified as Maxime Taylor of Skowhegan, Me. She is being held on a morals charge.

She was questioned last night by authorities seeking leads to the killer of Arnold Schuster, a New York clothing salesman, who was shot to death after he supplied the tip that led to the arrest and conviction of bank robber Sutton. The latter is now serving a life term in Sing Sing.

She denied knowing Sutton or Schuster during lengthy questioning following her arrest early yesterday in a Taunton hotel after police nabbed her boy friend, Harvey Bistany, 48, formerly of Lawrence, Mass., and two other gangsters in a Providence diner.

Two Others Arrested

Two other men were arrested by Massachusetts police shortly after police trapped Bistany and his associates.

Bistany was quoted by Detective William Fruin of New York as saying: "I won't talk to Massachusetts or Rhode Island cops but take me back to Brooklyn and I'll talk plenty."

Held with Bistany for court appearance today on charges of illegal possession of firearms are Manuel J. Orfao, Jr., 35, of Derby, Conn., one time member of the Detroit Purple gang, and Dennis Lytwyn, 30, of Fall River, Mass., a former boxer.

Police said Bistany is wanted by post office officials for burglary of the Brevoort post office station in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1951.

Also under arrest are Russell Peel, Jr., 35, of Easton, Mass., and Alfred Guerini, 39, of Mansfield, Mass., described by police as members of the Bistany gang. They were picked up in their respective communities shortly after Providence police picked up Bistany and his associates.

Prevented $70,000 Theft

Authorities said the arrest of Bistany and his pals prevented a $70,000 robbery planned for last night at a Newton, Mass., industrial plant.

They were questioned, not only concerning the Schuster killing, but also in connection with the $1,210,000 Brink's robbery in Boston in 1950 and the recent $650,000 United States Trucking Company robbery at Danvers, Mass.

Investigators said they have information that Bistany, once known as the "Syrian Flash" in amateur boxing circles, was in Sutton's company in New York two days before the bank robber was captured on Schuster's tip. They said Bistany, in 1949, lived near the clothing store where Schuster worked.

Meanwhile, in Lawrence, Mass., police said Bistany was brought to that city in 1936 by New York authorities to point out the burial place in a tenement cellar of George "The Sheik" Abdinoor, 27.

Abdinoor was slain in New York by a gangster known as "The Turk." Bistany, a friend of Abdinoor—was not involved in the killing but had learned of the burial place of "The Sheik."

Says Ideas Unrealistic For Owners

Promises Fairness

Chairman Braden Says Points to Be Covered in Investigation

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Former Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson today described the Wage Stabilization Board recommendations in the steel case as going "well beyond the limits of proper wage and price stabilization policy."

Wilson told a house labor committee that steelworkers were entitled to "no more" than a nine cents an hour "catch-up wage increase" to bring them in line with increases of working in other industries.

Wilson said too that it was "not realistic" to request the steel industry to absorb the wage increase without raising costs.

The WSB recommended a package increase of 26 cents an hour for steel workers who now average a little under $2 an hour. The package included direct pay increases and additional benefits in the way of vacation, holiday and other allowances.

Is First Witness

Wilson, who quit as mobilization chief in protest against administration handling of the steel case, was the first witness at a board investigation by the House Labor Committee of operations of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Chairman Barden (D-NC) told a reporter in advance his committee probably will delve into all phases of the WSB's operations, including its methods of recommending terms for settling major labor disputes.

"That's what the House told me to do," Barden said. And I don't have much of a reputation for letting them down."

Barden said the probe would be "fair to all concerned." and would cover the points outlined in a resolution by Rep. Allen (R.-Ill.) directing the investigation. Allen said one phase of the inquiry should determine whether the WSB has violated national labor policies as set forth in the Taft-Hartley Law.

The WSB steel recommendations touched off a series of spectacular events, including Presi-Truman's seizure of the steel industry, a three-day strike last week, and a series of historic court battles now under way on legality of the seizure action.

No Settlement Seen

The steel dispute still remains in dead center, with settlement apparently as far away as ever.

The Supreme Court has banned any government-imposed wage boost for Philip Murray's 650,000 CIO steelworkers in the basic steel industry, something Truman had promised to order this week. The high court's ban on a government pay raise action lasts until the court has decided whether Truman's seizure was constitutional.

Hearings in the Supreme Court review of the decision of U. S. District Judge David A. Pine, who held the seizure was unconstitutional, are set to begin next Monday. Meanwhile, the industry-union negotiations have ended in deadlock.

The WSB recommended an eventual 26-cents-an-hour increase in pay rates and vacation, holiday and shift differential allowances for the steel workers, along with a compulsory union membership (union shop) proviso. The steelworkers now receive a little under $2 an hour, including overtime.

Executive Contention

Steel company executives have contended that the WSB's proposals amounted to more money than the union has ever before obtained in collective bargaining. The WSB, on the other hand, said its recommendations were in line with what other unions have obtained.

Allen and a number of other congressmen were most concerned about the union shop recommendation. They said Congress never intended that the WSB should make recommendations on non-economic issues.

Wilson quit as mobilization boss after he classified the WSB's

The Satellites-II

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

A special group of Women—a very special group—is going to school in Czechoslovakia.

The school is at Brno. The women learn domestic work and housekeeping, English, French and other languages. When they get out, they get jobs.

These women, say underground reports, become agents of the secret police. Their special assignments: Domestic work in the homes of foreign diplomats. The information they pick up in such jobs is channeled back to the police.

This is only one of many things underlying the widespread atmosphere of fear and distrust which pervades Czechoslovakia after four years of chaotic rule by the Communists.

Atmosphere Deepens

A European businessman recently out of the country says this atmosphere has deepened greatly since he visited there a year ago. Today no Czechoslovakia official, whether of a state-run business or in any other line of endeavor, can see a foreigner unless a witness is present. Everybody is suspect.

The deep river of suspicion engulfs the party, too, in the wake of the expulsion of its General Secretary Rudolf Slansky.

There are many rumors, many "reliable" reports about the party and the government. Sifting them all, one impression is inescapable. No matter what the current alliances and the current pressures, President Klement Gottwald is in trouble.

There Are Many Views

There are many varying views of his trouble. Some say he is engaged in a bitter struggle with Premier Antonin Zapotocky, trying to pin on the premier the blame for economic failures. Others—there was a report like this from Yugoslavia—say Gottwald is struggling against the Moscow wing of the party. But other sources, at least as well informed as the Yugoslavs, insist Gottwald has asked Moscow to remove from power some of his present lieutenants, possibly including Zapotocky.

Exiles in the United States insist there is only one boss in Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia: Stalin. They insist—like many in Europe—that Gottwald has been told what Moscow requires from Czechoslovak industry, and that he is not bringing performance up to the schedule. There is speculation Gottwald, recently reported ailing, may even go to Moscow for the famed "Moscow cure."

Party Is in Turmoil

In any event, the party is in turmoil. A short time ago in Prague, about 100 party men, mostly district party secretaries, were arrested in connection with the Slansky affair.

It is another evidence of the sickness which strikes Communist

Banker, Accused of Taking $450,000, Didn't Use Cent

Perth Amboy, N. J., May 6 (AP)—A banker, described as a pillar of respectability in the community, is accussed of embezzling more than $450,000.

The complaint against 50-year-old William C. Horley was entered yesterday by the First Bank and Trust Co., where he was vice president at an $8,500-a-year salary.

Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber said early today that a series of bad investments engulfed Horley, whom he referred to as a "very generous man."

"He liked to help people. He made personal loans with bank funds," Eber said of the bank vice president.

Shock and surprise at the embezzlement news was registered by church and community officials who held the mild-mannered Horley in high esteem. He is warden of St. Peter's Episcopal Church and chairman of its trust fund.

Horley, married and the father of three children, took an active part in civic affairs. He is former chairman of the community chest, a Red Cross director, head of a fund-raising campaign for the Boy Scouts and former president of the local chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

After a five-hour quizzing which ended early today, Eber said that in order to cover up for the shortages resulting from bad loans, Horley then took some of the bank's money and speculated in the stock market in attempts to recoup the loss. This stock market dabbling also turned sour and Horley found himself deeper and deeper in the red, the county prosecutor continued.

Approximately $150,000 of the loss may be recovered, Eber said, adding that the embezzling opera-

Most seriously affected, so far, was air transport, both civilian and military. Motorists, however, were beginning to feel the pinch in some areas.

An encouraging glimmer came from California where the Independent Union of Petroleum Works settled with two companies.

In an interview in New Orleans James E. Knudson, administrator of the Defense Transportation Administration, warned:

"If the oil strike goes on a few more days, we may have to put some restrictions on civilian transportation."

The restrictions would be similar to World War 2 ration card system, Knudson said.

Shortages Scattered

Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman said the government is not planning on national rationing of automobile gasoline, despite scattered shortages.

Chapman said he agreed with Bruce K. Brown, deputy administrator of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, that it would take too long to set up a rationing program.

A 30 per cent cut in gasoline for civil aviation purposes was ordered by the PAD, effective today at 3:01 a. m. (EST).

The U. S. Air Force earlier ordered a cut in training flights to conserve gasoline. The navy said messages have gone out to continental bases to curtail all but essential flying.

Order Cuts

Investigators Turn To Others; Nunan Is Unwilling Witness

McGrath Said New Yorker Was Under Check for Part in Tanker Business

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Rep. Keating, (R.-N. Y.) said today that new testimony indicates Newbold Morris was selected to run the government's anti-corruption drive "to make impossible any impartial and thorough investigation."

Top officials in the Justice Department, Keating said in a statement, were interested in seeing that the probe "would never get off the ground."

The congressman's comment was prompted by testimony before a House committee yesterday that Morris and former Att.-Gen. J. Howard McGrath knew that Morris's connection with profitable deals in surplus U. S. tankers was under investigation at the time of Morris's appointment to the clean-up job.

Morris and McGrath have disclaimed knowing about the probe at the time and the New Yorker became government corruption hunter. Morris said he would not have accepted the job if he had known.

Knew of No Probe

Morris said in New York last night that he was aware a year ago that surplus tanker deals were being investigated but that he knew of no probe into any deal involving him or his law firm.

But Keating, a member of the House judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice Department, said it is apparent now that Morris was picked as "one who would be amenable to approach because of his own vulnerable position."

Peyton Ford, former deputy attorney general, and James M. McInerney, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, told the committee yesterday what they knew about an investigation of a surplus tanker deal involving Morris's law firm which was underway before McGrath named Morris as a special assistant.

Has Been Proved

"It has been proved," said Keating, "that Ford, who nominated Mr. Morris for the post, had himself consulted Justice Department officials concerning Mr. Morris and the same ship deals which gave rise to the pending investigation of alleged criminal acts on the part of Mr. Morris and his companies.

"Despite McGrath's denials, two of his top advisers have admitted they informed him of facts which clearly disqualified Mr. Morris from holding such a position."

When Morris appeared before the committee last month, Keating said Morris's connection with a surplus tanker deal has been under investigation by the Justice Department's criminal division six months before Morris's appointment. Keating added that he was

Refuses Answers on Queries About His Personal Income

Washington, May 6 (AP)—House tax scandal investigators switched to new targets today after fruitless efforts to get former Revenue Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., to talk about his personal finances.

Three, possibly four, new charges of mishandled tax cases were reported next on the agenda of the House Ways and Means Investigating subcommittee.

What the new probe involves was not disclosed. But it was expected to be in the nature of a "cleanup" operation in the committee's long run on the tax scandal circuit.

What was considered to be the last major phase of the committee's inquiry into Revenue Bureau irregularities wound up with a minimum of fanfare late yesterday with Nunan in the witness chair.

Nunan told the house investigators he thinks there are "possible crimes" for which he could be indicted.

Spars Over Details

The acknowledgment came as Nunan sparred over details of his six-figure personal income. He refused to answer a series of pointed questions about the sources of it.

After Nunan had cited the fourth, fifth and sixth amendments to the Constitution in support of his position, Adrian DeWind, committee counsel, asked him if he thought there were "any possible crimes for which you could be indicted?"

"Yes, sir, I think there are," Nunan answered, flushing. He did not go into any details.

Nunan "respectfully" declined to answer questions about any of the financial transactions traced to him by agents between 1945 and 1950—including $161,609 in cash and checks which agents could not pin to any identifiable source.

Rejects Claim

At the outset, Nunan rejected the committee's claim of authority to air his private affairs while he is the subject of a pending grand jury investigation in New York.

Chairman King (D.-Calif.) said he thought it was "a sad state of affairs" when a former public official "would choose to decline to cooperate with this committee in furnishing information."

The committee questioned Nunan for more than four hours on his activities as commissioner from March, 1944, to June, 1947, and as a lawyer practicing before the treasury after he left office.

The former tax chief firmly denied allegations that his tax clients received preferred treatment from the revenue bureau, or that he improperly represented taxpayers in cases which had been pending while he was commissioner.

Backs Contention

King backed Nunan's contention that he was within the law in obtaining waivers to act as a tax attorney before the bureau within two years of leaving office.

King said the bureau had in-

New Paltz Man Gives Plea of Innocent

Trenton, N. J., May 6 (AP)—Pvt. Robert L. Williams of Ft. Dix has pleaded innocent to a federal charge of killing a sergeant.

Federal Judge Phillip Forman heard the plea yesterday and then returned Williams to the Mercer county jail to await trial in June.

Williams, who lived in New Paltz, N. Y., is charged with the fatal beating of Sgt. Herman Weiner, 52, of Philadelphia, last Feb. 3. Weiner was found dead in his barracks bed.

Williams, 28, was arrested together with Pfc. Fio J. Rastellini, 20, as they were driving in New Paltz in Weiner's car. Both denied any knowledge of the death.

Rastellini is being held as a material witness.

Maine Resident Quizzed on Schuster Slaying, Denies Knowing Him or Sutton

Providence, R. I., May 6 (AP)—Police said today the 24-year-old girl friend of a notorious New York gangster friend of Willie "The Actor" Sutton had given them information that might solve several New York and New Jersey crimes.

The woman, questioned at Taunton, Mass., police headquarters by New York and Massachusetts detectives, was identified as Maxime Taylor of Skowhegan, Me. She is being held on a morals charge.

She was questioned last night by authorities seeking leads to the killer of Arnold Schuster, a New York clothing salesman, who was shot to death after he supplied the tip that led to the arrest and conviction of bank robber Sutton. The latter is now serving a life term in Sing Sing.

She denied knowing Sutton or Schuster during lengthy questioning following her arrest early yesterday in a Taunton hotel after police nabbed her boy friend, Harvey Bistany, 48, formerly of Lawrence, Mass., and two other gangsters in a Providence diner.

Two Others Arrested

Two other men were arrested by Massachusetts police shortly after police trapped Bistany and his associates.

Bistany was quoted by Detective William Fruin of New York as saying: "I won't talk to Massachusetts or Rhode Island cops but take me back to Brooklyn and I'll talk plenty."

Held with Bistany for court appearance today on charges of illegal possession of firearms are Manuel J. Orfao, Jr., 35, of Derby, Conn., one time member of the Detroit Purple gang, and Dennis Lytwyn, 30, of Fall River, Mass., a former boxer.

Police said Bistany is wanted by post office officials for burglary of the Brevoort post office station in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1951.

Also under arrest are Russell Peel, Jr., 35, of Easton, Mass., and Alfred Guerini, 39, of Mansfield, Mass., described by police as members of the Bistany gang. They were picked up in their respective communities shortly after Providence police picked up Bistany and his associates.

Prevented $70,000 Theft

Authorities said the arrest of Bistany and his pals prevented a $70,000 robbery planned for last night at a Newton, Mass., industrial plant.

They were questioned, not only concerning the Schuster killing, but also in connection with the $1,210,000 Brink's robbery in Boston in 1950 and the recent $650,000 United States Trucking Company robbery at Danvers, Mass.

Investigators said they have information that Bistany, once known as the "Syrian Flash" in amateur boxing circles, was in Sutton's company in New York two days before the bank robber was captured on Schuster's tip. They said Bistany, in 1949, lived near the clothing store where Schuster worked.

Meanwhile, in Lawrence, Mass., police said Bistany was brought to that city in 1936 by New York authorities to point out the burial place in a tenement cellar of George "The Sheik" Abdinoor, 27.

Abdinoor was slain in New York by a gangster known as "The Turk." Bistany, a friend of Abdinoor—was not involved in the killing but had learned of the burial place of "The Sheik."

Says Ideas Unrealistic For Owners

Promises Fairness

Chairman Braden Says Points to Be Covered in Investigation

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Former Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson today described the Wage Stabilization Board recommendations in the steel case as going "well beyond the limits of proper wage and price stabilization policy."

Wilson told a house labor committee that steelworkers were entitled to "no more" than a nine cents an hour "catch-up wage increase" to bring them in line with increases of working in other industries.

Wilson said too that it was "not realistic" to request the steel industry to absorb the wage increase without raising costs.

The WSB recommended a package increase of 26 cents an hour for steel workers who now average a little under $2 an hour. The package included direct pay increases and additional benefits in the way of vacation, holiday and other allowances.

Is First Witness

Wilson, who quit as mobilization chief in protest against administration handling of the steel case, was the first witness at a board investigation by the House Labor Committee of operations of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Chairman Barden (D-NC) told a reporter in advance his committee probably will delve into all phases of the WSB's operations, including its methods of recommending terms for settling major labor disputes.

"That's what the House told me to do," Barden said. And I don't have much of a reputation for letting them down."

Barden said the probe would be "fair to all concerned." and would cover the points outlined in a resolution by Rep. Allen (R.-Ill.) directing the investigation. Allen said one phase of the inquiry should determine whether the WSB has violated national labor policies as set forth in the Taft-Hartley Law.

The WSB steel recommendations touched off a series of spectacular events, including Presi-Truman's seizure of the steel industry, a three-day strike last week, and a series of historic court battles now under way on legality of the seizure action.

No Settlement Seen

The steel dispute still remains in dead center, with settlement apparently as far away as ever.

The Supreme Court has banned any government-imposed wage boost for Philip Murray's 650,000 CIO steelworkers in the basic steel industry, something Truman had promised to order this week. The high court's ban on a government pay raise action lasts until the court has decided whether Truman's seizure was constitutional.

Hearings in the Supreme Court review of the decision of U. S. District Judge David A. Pine, who held the seizure was unconstitutional, are set to begin next Monday. Meanwhile, the industry-union negotiations have ended in deadlock.

The WSB recommended an eventual 26-cents-an-hour increase in pay rates and vacation, holiday and shift differential allowances for the steel workers, along with a compulsory union membership (union shop) proviso. The steelworkers now receive a little under $2 an hour, including overtime.

Executive Contention

Steel company executives have contended that the WSB's proposals amounted to more money than the union has ever before obtained in collective bargaining. The WSB, on the other hand, said its recommendations were in line with what other unions have obtained.

Allen and a number of other congressmen were most concerned about the union shop recommendation. They said Congress never intended that the WSB should make recommendations on non-economic issues.

Wilson quit as mobilization boss after he classified the WSB's

The Satellites-II

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

A special group of Women—a very special group—is going to school in Czechoslovakia.

The school is at Brno. The women learn domestic work and housekeeping, English, French and other languages. When they get out, they get jobs.

These women, say underground reports, become agents of the secret police. Their special assignments: Domestic work in the homes of foreign diplomats. The information they pick up in such jobs is channeled back to the police.

This is only one of many things underlying the widespread atmosphere of fear and distrust which pervades Czechoslovakia after four years of chaotic rule by the Communists.

Atmosphere Deepens

A European businessman recently out of the country says this atmosphere has deepened greatly since he visited there a year ago. Today no Czechoslovakia official, whether of a state-run business or in any other line of endeavor, can see a foreigner unless a witness is present. Everybody is suspect.

The deep river of suspicion engulfs the party, too, in the wake of the expulsion of its General Secretary Rudolf Slansky.

There are many rumors, many "reliable" reports about the party and the government. Sifting them all, one impression is inescapable. No matter what the current alliances and the current pressures, President Klement Gottwald is in trouble.

There Are Many Views

There are many varying views of his trouble. Some say he is engaged in a bitter struggle with Premier Antonin Zapotocky, trying to pin on the premier the blame for economic failures. Others—there was a report like this from Yugoslavia—say Gottwald is struggling against the Moscow wing of the party. But other sources, at least as well informed as the Yugoslavs, insist Gottwald has asked Moscow to remove from power some of his present lieutenants, possibly including Zapotocky.

Exiles in the United States insist there is only one boss in Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia: Stalin. They insist—like many in Europe—that Gottwald has been told what Moscow requires from Czechoslovak industry, and that he is not bringing performance up to the schedule. There is speculation Gottwald, recently reported ailing, may even go to Moscow for the famed "Moscow cure."

Party Is in Turmoil

In any event, the party is in turmoil. A short time ago in Prague, about 100 party men, mostly district party secretaries, were arrested in connection with the Slansky affair.

It is another evidence of the sickness which strikes Communist

Banker, Accused of Taking $450,000, Didn't Use Cent

Perth Amboy, N. J., May 6 (AP)—A banker, described as a pillar of respectability in the community, is accussed of embezzling more than $450,000.

The complaint against 50-year-old William C. Horley was entered yesterday by the First Bank and Trust Co., where he was vice president at an $8,500-a-year salary.

Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber said early today that a series of bad investments engulfed Horley, whom he referred to as a "very generous man."

"He liked to help people. He made personal loans with bank funds," Eber said of the bank vice president.

Shock and surprise at the embezzlement news was registered by church and community officials who held the mild-mannered Horley in high esteem. He is warden of St. Peter's Episcopal Church and chairman of its trust fund.

Horley, married and the father of three children, took an active part in civic affairs. He is former chairman of the community chest, a Red Cross director, head of a fund-raising campaign for the Boy Scouts and former president of the local chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

After a five-hour quizzing which ended early today, Eber said that in order to cover up for the shortages resulting from bad loans, Horley then took some of the bank's money and speculated in the stock market in attempts to recoup the loss. This stock market dabbling also turned sour and Horley found himself deeper and deeper in the red, the county prosecutor continued.

Approximately $150,000 of the loss may be recovered, Eber said, adding that the embezzling opera-

Two Polio Cases Reported

Two polio cases were reported to the Ulster County Health Department on Monday. One, a girl, eight and one-half years old, has been hospitalized at Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie. The other case was that of a 15-month-old boy who did not require hospitalization. The onset of the boy's case was April 12, but it was not definitely determined to be polio until this week. Both victims are residents of Ulster county, the health department said.

Lombardo Is Cleared

New York, May 6 (AP)—Bandleader Guy Lombardo has been cleared of any culpable negligence in the automobile death last Dec. 9 of Isack Lilien, 64. Detectives Walter Rickard and Daniel Holloran testified yesterday in Queens county motor vehicle court that it was "a misty morning" when Lilien was struck by Lombardo's car. The officers also said traffic lights in the area were "not too good." Magistrate Corning G. McKennee cleared Lombardo.

National Geographic Delimits Near, Middle, and Far East

Washington, D. C., May 6 (Special) The three Easts, Near, Middle and Far—where are they? What does each include?

Because they serve to break the vast Orient into handy sections, the three designations are much used. Because they lack any broad official status, however, they remain vague and their boundaries are pushed around by both American and British writers.

FAR EAST: China, Mongolian Republic, Korea, Japan, the Philippines, Indochina, Thailand (Siam), Burma, Malaya, and Indonesia.

MIDDLE EAST: India, Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Sikkim, and Ceylon.

Burma to Far East

The definition of Far East, the Society observes, coincides with the listing of countries assigned by the U. S. Department of State to ites Bureau of Far Eastern Affairs.

Burma, long grouped with India because of political ties, became independent in 1948, and has quite recently been transferred to the State Department's Far East grouping. The shift is logical, as the National Geographic Society sees it, since Burma alone of the countries of Asia's big southeastern peninsula had been outside the Far East designation.

The term Far East dates almost from Columbus's time. At first, it described the coasts and islands east of Singapore visited by venturesome navigators who reached the Pacific by doubling Africa's southern tip and crossing the Indian Ocean.

These coasts and islands were far east from a Europe that considered itself the center of the world. To west-coast Americans they are near west as well as Far East.

Books have been written in which the Far East is restricted to China, Korea and Japan. Others expand the term to include virtually all Asia east of Afghanistan.

Middle East Roves

By common consent, authorities on the Orient keep south of Russia in defining Middle East and Near East. With this and the State Department's official Far East in mind, National Geographic Society cartographers have defined their geographically logical Middle East.

The Department of State has a Bureau of Near Eastern, South Asian, and African Affairs. It thus avoids the term Middle East, and avoids any precise definition of what comprises the Near East. Within this Bureau, however, the Office of South Asian Affairs deals with and only with the very countries that compose the Society's Middle East, above.

Prior to World War 2, Middle East quite commonly described this region of the Indian subcontinent, although the designation was often made to reach westward to embrace Iran and the Arabian Peninsula. Newest of the three Easts, Middle East started as a generalization to describe the reaches of southern Asia between Near East and Far East .

World War 2, however, greatly complicated the meaning of this term by bringing to the forefront the spreading British Middle East Command. The Command's military province expanded westward until it reached from Iran to Libya, inclusive. War communiques from as far west as Bengasi and Tripoli were labeled Middle East, even by American newspapers.

Near East Range Is Wide

The National Geographic Society's list of Near East countries corresponds closely to the State Department's grouping as represented by its Office of Near Eastern Affairs and Office of Greek Turkish, and Iranian Affairs. Greece and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, within the scope of these two offices, are not part of the Society's Near East.

In British usage, the Balkan States of southeastern Europe often have been tabbed as part of the Near East, but American practice is to align them geographically with the West.

National Geographic Delimits Near, Middle, and Far East

Washington, D. C., May 6 (Special) The three Easts, Near, Middle and Far—where are they? What does each include?

Because they serve to break the vast Orient into handy sections, the three designations are much used. Because they lack any broad official status, however, they remain vague and their boundaries are pushed around by both American and British writers.

FAR EAST: China, Mongolian Republic, Korea, Japan, the Philippines, Indochina, Thailand (Siam), Burma, Malaya, and Indonesia.

MIDDLE EAST: India, Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Sikkim, and Ceylon.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 6, 1952

A NOMINATION SPURNED

A political career at 90 is something out of the ordinary. This has been the lot of Mrs. Samel M. Ralston of Indiana, who has been Democratic national committeewoman for 24 years and is now giving up the post at 90.

She came near being the wife of a presidential candidate. Her husband was elected governor of Indiana in 1912 and senator in 1922. Both times he defeated Albert J. Beveridge, distinguished former senator and biographer of Lincoln and of Chief Justice John Marshall. In 1924 the Democratic convention at Madison Square Garden in New York City was deadlocked between supporters of ex-Secretary of the Treasury William G. MacAdoo and Governor Al Smith of New York. On the 93rd ballot an attempt to find a compromise candidate gave Ralston 196½ votes. He immediately telephoned his friends that he could not accept if nominated and a few ballots later John W. Davis was chosen.

Ralston at 68 probably felt himself physically unequal to the task of campaigning or administering the presidency if elected. In fact he died in October, 1925, so if elected he would have served only a few months of his term.

To conduct the duties of the presidency faithfully, keeping a level head under all trials, calls for immense physical, mental and moral stamina.

Premier Antoine Pinay may not have cured the French government of its various miseries, but some signs of vigor are being manifested. He seems to have attracted a majority which may be able to take some long needed action.

TREASURE FOR THE FINDER

Anyone wishing to be fabulously rich who is willing to risk hs life in getting it might try for the treasure in the wrecked ship Grosvenor. Another of the many attempts to find it has just been reported from Durban, South Africa, near which a diver found eight cannon and box-shaped objects which appear to be from the Grosvenor.

The Grosvenor was wrecked in June, 1782, on the coast of Southeastern Africa. This is a wild stretch of rocks against which the breakers of the Indian Ocean thunder without ceasing. With the ship went down its cargo of precious stones, coin, bullion, ivory and other treasures, estimated at over $10,000,000. There is a story that the ship carried the two golden peacocks that once stood in Delhi behind the throne of the Mogul emperors.

Naturally this rich prospect has tempted many. Dredging proved inadequate to meet the inrushing waters. A syndicate then tried to run a tunnel out from shore, only to have the waves break through the roof and fill the tunnel to overflowing. The treasure still remains, needing no other guard than sharp rocks and a constantly stormy sea.

The French are honoring a unique national hero. The ashes of Louis Braille, inventor of a system of writing for the blind, are to be deposited in the national shrine, the Pantheon. Here rest the ashes of such national heroes as Victor Hugo, author of "Les Miserables" and Rousseau, educator and writer whose works undermined the pre-revolutionary regime.

The touring presidential candidates deserve more sympathy than they get. Ex-president Hoover, in the new volume of his memoirs, assures us out of his vast experience that the daily diet served is never anything but fried chicken and peas. These have merits, but day after day and week after week they pall.

The marking of the ballot involves more money this year than ever before. The officials remaining or going into office will be sitting on top of a national debt expected to total $262,000,000,000 this June—a sum that would take 4,155 years just to count. So take care with the Xs.

The Washington office of a candidate for the presidential nomination has been closed because, it's said, of a shortage of funds. More likely a shortage of prospective votes, of far greater value than mere money, was the crippler.

TRUMAN VS. CONSTITUTION

I have been receiving mail on the subject of the Constitution, and I find that some of the writers speak of the Constitution as a dogma and they ask whether human welfare is to be sacrificed to dogma.

It cannot be incidental that this question is raised. For many generations, the youth of this country have been getting a dose of the concept that whatever is dogmatic is per se wrong; that there are no absolutes about anything, not even the Ten Commandments. These generations of young people were taught that the economic basis for society and life is paramount; that all the developments of the human mind are the product of the economic environment of the moment. Therefore, the Constitution is not basic but is a product of the economic environment of the United States in 1787. That environment has since changed; therefore, the Constitution is inadequate today.

The fallacy of this doctrine is that the very existence of the United States derives from the Constitution. The Civil War was fought over the right to secede from the Union, a right which was claimed because the Constitution is a contract among the states, each one agreeing to abide by it. It was not adopted by the United States but by each state. Should the Constitution fall, the alternative to our form, representative government by and for free individuals, can only be some form of totalitarian government for an enslaved people.

The Constitution has proved over 163 years to be a practical document; in fact, it has survived all other similar arrangements, including the unwritten British Constitution, which is really an accumulation of habits, traditions and acts of legislation.

The men who wrote the Constitution were concerned with power. There was no antipathy to England, the mother country; there was profound objection to the use of economic and political power to reduce a people to bondage. Therefore, those who labored over the Constitution, practical men, who had themselves fought in the Revolutionary War, devoted themselves to the question of power and determined that they would set up a form of government in which no one would rule.

Alexander Hamilton wrote:

". . . History will teach us . . . that those men who have overturned the liberties of republics, the greatest number have begun their career by paying an obsequious court to the people; commencing demagogues, and ending tyrants."

Actually, it is more evil to corrupt the law, to subvert the law, than to violate the law.

Murder, Inc., violated the law. These men engaged in murder for hire. Some of them murdered each other; some of them were punished by the courts. Their acts in no manner weakened the law against murder.

On the other hand, the Kefauver Investigation opened our eyes to the effort of gangsters to corrupt the law, to use wiles and devices to make the law ineffective or even to remove the law altogether, weakening the state and reducing the resistance of the people to general immorality. This covert activity, evil in itself, produces national diseases because not only are officials corrupted and the law lessened, but the people become subservient to those who obtain power by a collusion of gangster and official.

Mr. Truman challenges the nature of our society by seeking power where it does not exist. The right to rule is nowhere established in the American Constitution, which insists upon limited powers in each branch of government, so that at no time, in no circumstances, would it be possible for an official to use unlimited power to serve a particular purpose. The President of the United States is not a ruler; he is an instrument created by the Constitution to perform particular tasks.

The argument has been set forth that as Mr. Truman will not be a candidate for President, he can have no intention of expanding personal power. That is beside the point, which is that whenever an attempt is made to weaken the authority of the Constitution and to subvert the law, it must be fought because the law transcends personalities. If Truman had only one more day to serve, it would be necessary to take the Steel Seizure Case up to the Supreme Court to reiterate the inviolability of the Constitution.

This is not dogma; it is the preservation of liberty. It is the safeguarding of our personal freedoms.

OUTPATIENT DIAGNOSTIC STUDY

In these days, when there is a scarcity of beds in hospitals, it is only fair that those who are very ill should be accommodated and those who are able to be on their feet should be looked after at a physician's office or attend the outpatient clinic of the hospital.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Robert P. McCombs, Joseph H. Pratt Diagnostic Clinic, Boston, states that while the well-trained physician is equipped to give a thorough examination with chemical and other special tests and perhaps an X-ray apparatus, nevertheless the busy practitioner can hardly devote the time to look after all the necessary tests.

Although hospitals have the necessary equipment to make a complete examination, they have not the rooms for these patients who are on their feet and able to get about. For this reason a diagnostic outdoor clinic can be established at or near the hospital for ambulatory (walking) patients.

Dr. McComb gives the history of the development and growth of the Pratt Diagnostic Clinic, opened 13 years ago, which has grown to a point where over 9,000 patients a year are being referred to it by nearly 4,000 family physicians. To get this examination, be under observation for several days and get the necessary tests at the hospital proper would mean that these ambulatory patients would need to use hospital rooms and beds for the few days or a week. But, being walking patients, they can attend the Diagnostic Clinic, be seen by the heads of the various departments and be returned to the family physician for necessary treatment.

The fees are kept as low as possible. A set price is charged for the first examination, including routine laboratory and X-ray examination and administrative expenses. All other tests are charged at minimum rates. By this plan the patients know the ceiling price and that they be charged considerably less. Certainly the same diagnostic study can be done at less expense on an outpatient basis than it can on an inpatient basis.

"Despite the huge increases in the cost of hospital operation, fees for diagnostic study have been kept within reason by holding charges to a modest level," Dr. McCombs tells us. "The clinic operates on a non-profit basis. Undoubtedly all these factors have contributed to the growth of the Pratt Diagnosic Clinic. The application of these principles in other areas should be equally successful."

Just When They Were Saying He Was Washed Up

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Three amazing Chinese documents have just come to light on the wake of the Nationalist Chinese cables which Sen. Wayne Morse (R.-Ore) has inserted in the Congressional Record. The three new documents, so far unpublished, show that the supposedly friendly Chinese Nationalist government has been in the same category as Russia in trying to obtain the secret of the atomic bomb.

Furthermore, the Chinese confidential instructions show a consistent attempt to obtain A-bomb secrets, beginning immediately after the Hiroshima explosion in 1945 and extending through 1948.

While this kind of espionage is to be expected from a satellite country, it is a highly questionable, if not unfriendly, act on the part of a government which has been kept alive only by millions in U. S. cash, materials and military support.

The first secret Chinese cable is dated Sept. 1, 1945, immediately after the Hiroshima and Nagasaki explosions. It reads.

"From: Chinese Air Force Headquarters

"To: Air attache, c/o Chinese Air Force Office in U. S. A.

"Your cable received. You are instructed to continue search for information in regard to atomic bomb.

"C. J. CHOW."

C. J. Chow, who signed the cable, is the commanding general of the Nationalist Chinese Air Force, and one of the highest men in Chiang Kai-shek's councils.

Bikini Secrets Sought

The second cable is dated Dec. 6, 1946, and shows that even after a great deal of publicity in the United States over the leak of atomic secrets, Chiang's government was still endeavoring to penetrate our security. The cable reads:

"From: Chinese Air Force Headquarters

"To Air attache, c/o Chinese Air Force in U. S. A.

"You are instructed to collect the information in regard to the report of the results of the Bikini atomic bomb test in July and send back immediately for our study.

"C. J. CHOW."

The two above cables have come to light in a manner somewhat similar to the way in which the Russian spy ring in Canada was exposed—through a code officer. In Canada, the code clerk of the Russian embassy, Igor Gouzenko, decided that his country should not be spying on the United States.

In Washington, Captain Fang, code officer of the Chinese Air Mission, also had misgivings about Chinese prying into the secrets of a government that was supporting China, and supplied the above translations from his original coding notes.

Wanted: 'All U. S. Secrets'

Another document, perhaps even more significant, is a top-secret instruction sent "to all Chinese Air Force personnel in the United States re: Instructions regarding methods and incentives for collecting information for Chinese Air Force Intelligence."

This document is a long one, mimeographed on thin Chinese paper, and sent out in 1948, a date which could be significant in that at that time Chiang Kai-shek was being pushed toward Shanghai, and had little chance of maintaining a foothold in China. The fact that he was so anxious to obtain U. S. military secrets at this late date leads to the speculation that they were wanted not for Nationalist China, but for trading purposes with Communist China.

In any event, the secret instructions to Chinese officers to collect American military information covered almost every possible item in the military books. Here are the high lights:

"Intelligence report on technical material:

"1. The latest type of design or model and information in regard to all types of aircraft, such as specifications of material, performance of airplane, etc.

"2. The latest type of design or model and information in regard to all types of engines and their parts.

"3. Information in regard to manufacturing licenses on new radar and its control mechanisms and improvements.

"4. Information in regard to production methods for rockets, and their improvement.

"5. All information with regard to the production method and improvement of atomic bombs.

"6. Production method of variable types of timing detonators, and their improvements.

"7. New inventions of aerial and antiaircraft weapons, and their improvements.

"Intelligence report on preserving armaments

"1. Organization chart of counterespionage and its practice.

"2. Practice and method of security control.

"3. Interrelated methods of preserving armaments.

"4. Presently employed methods of decoy and camouflage.

"5. Use of codes in counterespioage and other security devices.

"Intelligence report on military targets

"1. Power plant.

"2. Aircraft plants.

"3. Arsenals and their power plants.

"4. Steel plants and oil refineries.

"5. Airports and air bases, and equipment and supply depots.

"6. Railway system stations and bridges.

"7. Highway system, highway bridges, important highway hubs.

"8. The inland waterway system and its control points.

"9. Harbor equipment, docks, piers and warehouses.

"10. Navy bases.

"11. Military depots.

"12. Harbor defense.

"13. Distribution of antiaircraft batteries.

"14. Water supply.

"15. Any other important installations (it will be much better if the information described above can be given along with photographs of the targets)."

Lake Becomes Mud Flat

Matawan, N. J., May 6 (AP)—A vast expanse of mud flats is all that remained today of once-picturesque Lake Lefferts. Because of a broken floodgate, tons of water in the man-made lake escaped in the past few weeks. The small amount of water still in the lake yesterday was drained by engineers who were looking for the trouble. A broken valve was removed for repair. Now, residents who would like the beauty spot restored are hoping for the heavy rainfall to fill the lake, which is three and one half miles long and several hundred feet wide. Built in the mid-20's, the lake normally is heavily stocked with fish.

Misconceptions of Constitutional Definitions of Powers Are Existent in National Capital

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 6—Although the American people are not often aroused on a constitutional issue, when there is a widespread discussion of what the Constitution really says it is a remarkable thing to note that even in the national capital there are misconceptions of just what the supreme law of the land does define as the powers of the President, the Congress, and the judiciary.

During the recent argument in the district court here over the so-called "inherent powers" of the presidency, there were legislators in Congress who actually insisted that in an emergency the President could do almost anything. It is true that Mr. Truman, in a letter published a few days ago, restricted somewhat the argument that had been made by the assistant attorney general, but Mr. Truman did not retreat from his basic position, which is that in a national emergency the President has the power to do what he thinks best.

Unfortunately, except among constitutional lawyers, there is little knowledge generally as to the nature and scope of the Supreme Court decisions of the past interpreting the Constitution. Indeed, in recent years there has been a tendency, particularly among the radicals and the New Dealers, to argue rather flippantly that "the Constitution is what the judges say it is." This particular quotation — which was originally used in a speech by Charles Evans Hughes when he was governor of the state of New York and before he went to the bench—has been widely misrepresented. This correspondent, in a conversation with the late chief justice, heard him complain rather bitterly at the distortion of that phrase by opportunists. What Justice Hughes was trying to argue in his speech on the stump was an entirely different point, and the expression was used in a literal sense at that time—namely, that the Supreme Court had interpreted the Constitution in a particular case to which he referred and that therefore their decision was the supreme law. The Constitution, of course, is what the words and phrases of the articles in that great document say is the supreme law of the land.

It is amazing how little known are the pronouncements of the Supreme Court of the United States on the subject of powers during an "emergency."

President Lincoln during the Civil War took an action which the attorney general later sought to justify as due to an emergency, and when the case—known as "ex parte Milligan"—was decided in 1866, the decision handed down at that time became a landmark in America, because it pointed out that, while as commander-in-chief the President has the power to command the armed forces and to conduct military campaigns, he does not have the power to violate civil rights. The Supreme Court said in that case:

"The Constitution of the United States is a law for rulers and people, equally in war and in peace, and covers with its shield of protection all classes of men, at all times, and under all circumstances.

"No doctrine, involving more pernicious consequences, was ever invented by the wit of man than that any of its provisions can be suspended during any of the great exigencies of government. Such a doctrine leads directly to anarchy or despotism, but the theory of necessity on which it is based is false; for the government within the Constitution, has all the powers granted to it which are necessary to preserve its existence."

What is not generally known, also, is that many laws are passed and many executive acts are from time to time performed which are not challenged in the courts, and hence there is no opportunity to determine whether or not they are within the Constitution. Thus, the Department of Justice recently contended as justification for the seizure of the steel plants that several times there have been plants seized in the past. Justice Pine disposed of that contention by pointing out that at no time had the acts been challenged, and hence it could not be said that they had been legalized.

It is not widely known, moreover, that any act which is believed to be unconstitutional can be challenged and even disobeyed, but the person who is bringing the challenge runs the risk, if the act is upheld, of paying the penalty for having disobeyed the law. This is one reason why, even though an unconstitutional act may be believed to have been committed, it is a question whether the persons affected are always willing to spend the money and take the risks involved in litigation.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 6, 1952

A NOMINATION SPURNED

A political career at 90 is something out of the ordinary. This has been the lot of Mrs. Samel M. Ralston of Indiana, who has been Democratic national committeewoman for 24 years and is now giving up the post at 90.

She came near being the wife of a presidential candidate. Her husband was elected governor of Indiana in 1912 and senator in 1922. Both times he defeated Albert J. Beveridge, distinguished former senator and biographer of Lincoln and of Chief Justice John Marshall. In 1924 the Democratic convention at Madison Square Garden in New York City was deadlocked between supporters of ex-Secretary of the Treasury William G. MacAdoo and Governor Al Smith of New York. On the 93rd ballot an attempt to find a compromise candidate gave Ralston 196½ votes. He immediately telephoned his friends that he could not accept if nominated and a few ballots later John W. Davis was chosen.

Ralston at 68 probably felt himself physically unequal to the task of campaigning or administering the presidency if elected. In fact he died in October, 1925, so if elected he would have served only a few months of his term.

To conduct the duties of the presidency faithfully, keeping a level head under all trials, calls for immense physical, mental and moral stamina.

Premier Antoine Pinay may not have cured the French government of its various miseries, but some signs of vigor are being manifested. He seems to have attracted a majority which may be able to take some long needed action.

That is beside the point, which is that whenever an attempt is made to weaken the authority of the Constitution and to subvert the law, it must be fought because the law transcends personalities. If Truman had only one more day to serve, it would be necessary to take the Steel Seizure Case up to the Supreme Court to reiterate the inviolability of the Constitution.

This is not dogma; it is the preservation of liberty. It is the safeguarding of our personal freedoms.

That Body of Yours

OUTPATIENT DIAGNOSTIC STUDY

In these days, when there is a scarcity of beds in hospitals, it is only fair that those who are very ill should be accommodated and those who are able to be on their feet should be looked after at a physician's office or attend the outpatient clinic of the hospital.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Robert P. McCombs, Joseph H. Pratt Diagnostic Clinic, Boston, states that while the well-trained physician is equipped to give a thorough examination with chemical and other special tests and perhaps an X-ray apparatus, nevertheless the busy practitioner can hardly devote the time to look after all the necessary tests.

Although hospitals have the necessary equipment to make a complete examination, they have not the rooms for these patients who are on their feet and able to get about. For this reason a diagnostic outdoor clinic can be established at or near the hospital for ambulatory (walking) patients.

Dr. McComb gives the history of the development and growth of the Pratt Diagnostic Clinic, opened 13 years ago, which has grown to a point where over 9,000 patients a year are being referred to it by nearly 4,000 family physicians. To get this examination, be under observation for several days and get the necessary tests at the hospital proper would mean that these ambulatory patients would need to use hospital rooms and beds for the few days or a week. But, being walking patients, they can attend the Diagnostic Clinic, be seen by the heads of the various departments and be returned to the family physician for necessary treatment.

The fees are kept as low as possible. A set price is charged for the first examination, including routine laboratory and X-ray examination and administrative expenses. All other tests are charged at minimum rates. By this plan the patients know the ceiling price and that they be charged considerably less. Certainly the same diagnostic study can be done at less expense on an outpatient basis than it can on an inpatient basis.

"Despite the huge increases in the cost of hospital operation, fees for diagnostic study have been kept within reason by holding charges to a modest level," Dr. McCombs tells us. "The clinic operates on a non-profit basis. Undoubtedly all these factors have contributed to the growth of the Pratt Diagnosic Clinic. The application of these principles in other areas should be equally successful."

Just When They Were Saying He Was Washed Up

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Three amazing Chinese documents have just come to light on the wake of the Nationalist Chinese cables which Sen. Wayne Morse (R.-Ore) has inserted in the Congressional Record. The three new documents, so far unpublished, show that the supposedly friendly Chinese Nationalist government has been in the same category as Russia in trying to obtain the secret of the atomic bomb.

Furthermore, the Chinese confidential instructions show a consistent attempt to obtain A-bomb secrets, beginning immediately after the Hiroshima explosion in 1945 and extending through 1948.

While this kind of espionage is to be expected from a satellite country, it is a highly questionable, if not unfriendly, act on the part of a government which has been kept alive only by millions in U. S. cash, materials and military support.

The first secret Chinese cable is dated Sept. 1, 1945, immediately after the Hiroshima and Nagasaki explosions. It reads.

"From: Chinese Air Force Headquarters

"To: Air attache, c/o Chinese Air Force Office in U. S. A.

"Your cable received. You are instructed to continue search for information in regard to atomic bomb.

"C. J. CHOW."

C. J. Chow, who signed the cable, is the commanding general of the Nationalist Chinese Air Force, and one of the highest men in Chiang Kai-shek's councils.

Bikini Secrets Sought

The second cable is dated Dec. 6, 1946, and shows that even after a great deal of publicity in the United States over the leak of atomic secrets, Chiang's government was still endeavoring to penetrate our security. The cable reads:

"From: Chinese Air Force Headquarters

"To Air attache, c/o Chinese Air Force in U. S. A.

"You are instructed to collect the information in regard to the report of the results of the Bikini atomic bomb test in July and send back immediately for our study.

"C. J. CHOW."

The two above cables have come to light in a manner somewhat similar to the way in which the Russian spy ring in Canada was exposed—through a code officer. In Canada, the code clerk of the Russian embassy, Igor Gouzenko, decided that his country should not be spying on the United States.

In Washington, Captain Fang, code officer of the Chinese Air Mission, also had misgivings about Chinese prying into the secrets of a government that was supporting China, and supplied the above translations from his original coding notes.

Wanted: 'All U. S. Secrets'

Another document, perhaps even more significant, is a top-secret instruction sent "to all Chinese Air Force personnel in the United States re: Instructions regarding methods and incentives for collecting information for Chinese Air Force Intelligence."

This document is a long one, mimeographed on thin Chinese paper, and sent out in 1948, a date which could be significant in that at that time Chiang Kai-shek was being pushed toward Shanghai, and had little chance of maintaining a foothold in China. The fact that he was so anxious to obtain U. S. military secrets at this late date leads to the speculation that they were wanted not for Nationalist China, but for trading purposes with Communist China.

In any event, the secret instructions to Chinese officers to collect American military information covered almost every possible item in the military books. Here are the high lights:

"Intelligence report on technical material:

"1. The latest type of design or model and information in regard to all types of aircraft, such as specifications of material, performance of airplane, etc.

"2. The latest type of design or model and information in regard to all types of engines and their parts.

"3. Information in regard to manufacturing licenses on new radar and its control mechanisms and improvements.

"4. Information in regard to production methods for rockets, and their improvement.

"5. All information with regard to the production method and improvement of atomic bombs.

"6. Production method of variable types of timing detonators, and their improvements.

"7. New inventions of aerial and antiaircraft weapons, and their improvements.

"Intelligence report on preserving armaments

"1. Organization chart of counterespionage and its practice.

"2. Practice and method of security control.

"3. Interrelated methods of preserving armaments.

"4. Presently employed methods of decoy and camouflage.

"5. Use of codes in counterespioage and other security devices.

"Intelligence report on military targets

"1. Power plant.

"2. Aircraft plants.

"3. Arsenals and their power plants.

"4. Steel plants and oil refineries.

"5. Airports and air bases, and equipment and supply depots.

"6. Railway system stations and bridges.

"7. Highway system, highway bridges, important highway hubs.

"8. The inland waterway system and its control points.

"9. Harbor equipment, docks, piers and warehouses.

"10. Navy bases.

"11. Military depots.

"12. Harbor defense.

"13. Distribution of antiaircraft batteries.

"14. Water supply.

"15. Any other important installations (it will be much better if the information described above can be given along with photographs of the targets)."

Lake Becomes Mud Flat

Matawan, N. J., May 6 (AP)—A vast expanse of mud flats is all that remained today of once-picturesque Lake Lefferts. Because of a broken floodgate, tons of water in the man-made lake escaped in the past few weeks. The small amount of water still in the lake yesterday was drained by engineers who were looking for the trouble. A broken valve was removed for repair. Now, residents who would like the beauty spot restored are hoping for the heavy rainfall to fill the lake, which is three and one half miles long and several hundred feet wide. Built in the mid-20's, the lake normally is heavily stocked with fish.

Misconceptions of Constitutional Definitions of Powers Are Existent in National Capital

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 6—Although the American people are not often aroused on a constitutional issue, when there is a widespread discussion of what the Constitution really says it is a remarkable thing to note that even in the national capital there are misconceptions of just what the supreme law of the land does define as the powers of the President, the Congress, and the judiciary.

During the recent argument in the district court here over the so-called "inherent powers" of the presidency, there were legislators in Congress who actually insisted that in an emergency the President could do almost anything. It is true that Mr. Truman, in a letter published a few days ago, restricted somewhat the argument that had been made by the assistant attorney general, but Mr. Truman did not retreat from his basic position, which is that in a national emergency the President has the power to do what he thinks best.

Unfortunately, except among constitutional lawyers, there is little knowledge generally as to the nature and scope of the Supreme Court decisions of the past interpreting the Constitution. Indeed, in recent years there has been a tendency, particularly among the radicals and the New Dealers, to argue rather flippantly that "the Constitution is what the judges say it is." This particular quotation — which was originally used in a speech by Charles Evans Hughes when he was governor of the state of New York and before he went to the bench—has been widely misrepresented. This correspondent, in a conversation with the late chief justice, heard him complain rather bitterly at the distortion of that phrase by opportunists. What Justice Hughes was trying to argue in his speech on the stump was an entirely different point, and the expression was used in a literal sense at that time—namely, that the Supreme Court had interpreted the Constitution in a particular case to which he referred and that therefore their decision was the supreme law. The Constitution, of course, is what the words and phrases of the articles in that great document say is the supreme law of the land.

It is amazing how little known are the pronouncements of the Supreme Court of the United States on the subject of powers during an "emergency."

President Lincoln during the Civil War took an action which the attorney general later sought to justify as due to an emergency, and when the case—known as "ex parte Milligan"—was decided in 1866, the decision handed down at that time became a landmark in America, because it pointed out that, while as commander-in-chief the President has the power to command the armed forces and to conduct military campaigns, he does not have the power to violate civil rights. The Supreme Court said in that case:

"The Constitution of the United States is a law for rulers and people, equally in war and in peace, and covers with its shield of protection all classes of men, at all times, and under all circumstances.

"No doctrine, involving more pernicious consequences, was ever invented by the wit of man than that any of its provisions can be suspended during any of the great exigencies of government. Such a doctrine leads directly to anarchy or despotism, but the theory of necessity on which it is based is false; for the government within the Constitution, has all the powers granted to it which are necessary to preserve its existence."

What is not generally known, also, is that many laws are passed and many executive acts are from time to time performed which are not challenged in the courts, and hence there is no opportunity to determine whether or not they are within the Constitution. Thus, the Department of Justice recently contended as justification for the seizure of the steel plants that several times there have been plants seized in the past. Justice Pine disposed of that contention by pointing out that at no time had the acts been challenged, and hence it could not be said that they had been legalized.

It is not widely known, moreover, that any act which is believed to be unconstitutional can be challenged and even disobeyed, but the person who is bringing the challenge runs the risk, if the act is upheld, of paying the penalty for having disobeyed the law. This is one reason why, even though an unconstitutional act may be believed to have been committed, it is a question whether the persons affected are always willing to spend the money and take the risks involved in litigation.

Flanders Is Freed Of Fugitive Charge

Albany, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—Thomas J. Flanders, private detective accused in Tennessee of kidnaping a boy involved in a custody dispute, today was free of a fugitive from justice charge.

On motion of Flanders' attorney, Judge Martin Schenck of Albany County Court yesterday dismissed the action against the former head of the Pinkerton Detective Agency office here.

Flanders' attorney contended that under New York law, an extradition action was nullified if the governor failed to act within 60 days.

Flanders, 25, surrendered to New York authorities March 4 and pleaded innocent to the fugitive charge, which was based on a Tennessee indictment charging kidnaping.

The Tennessee indictment accused Flanders of kidnaping Clarence Templeton, 9, from his father, Attorney Jerome Templeton of Knoxville, Tenn. The boy was taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Morton M. Z. Lynn, at Albany.

New York courts have awarded custody of the boy to Mrs. Lynn. A Tennessee court, however, gave the father custody.

parties in power. The same sickness of fear and distrust drove the Communists to arrest Vladimir Clementis, former foreign minister, largely because he once had connections with the west. He, like Slansky, has not yet gone on trial. It was the same sickness which caused the Communists to arrest the Associated Press correspondent, William N Oatis, and sentence him to prison on a charge of spying. In the distorted view of a Communist, a newspaperman performing his job is a spy.

While the party struggles, the people shuffle through life in an attitude of hopelessness. Now and then there are reports of some resistance from miners cutting down on production or factory workers silently opposing the speedup of "socialist competition."

Red Bosses Rant

Communist bosses rant against absenteeism and send the worst offenders into forced labor. But in many places the Communists are obliged to move slowly, because of a threat that workers will leave their jobs en masse.

The Russians, as in the other captive nations, are taking over everywhere. In the schools Soviet methods have been installed. All Soviet holidays are observed and school buildings post pictures of Stalin. Only maps printed in the U.S.S.R. may be used.

A school teacher earns about 5,000 crowns a month. To get this job she must be screened, particularly for the higher classes, on knowledge of things Communist and Soviet and on the candidate's record of telling the children constantly "about Stalin."

With her 5,000 crowns a month, the teacher faces prices like these: Gloves cost 550 crowns; shoes, 3,000 to 5,000; nylon stockings, 1,800; pork, rationed, 55 a kilo (two pounds) or 280 a kilo on the free market; beef, 260 a kilo; salami, 1,000; coffee and tea, 2,000 a kilo.

Pressure Is Exerted

The Communist state exerts pressure on all religions, particularly the Roman Catholic. Some three quarters of the country's 12½ millions are Catholics. "Progressive" priests — those persuaded to follow Communist directives—are being installed in the attempt to divorce the Catholics from the Vatican and set up a national church. Archbishop Josef Beran, Roman Catholic primate of Czechoslovakia, and a number of bishops remain in confinement, possibly awaiting trial.

Anti-Semitism is reported getting toward the boiling point, ever since the Slansky affair. Slansky is Jewish. Recently, periodic raids have been reported on the homes of Jews in Bratislava.

The anti-Jewish movement — part of it apparently a frenzied attack on Zionism as a national sentiment dangerous to communism—seems to be getting plenty of official support in high places. The Communist press refers to Jews in a hostile way and to "Jerusalem" as a seat of intrigue. Even Premier Zapotocky has publicly fanned the flames. He uses the term "Judeo-Trotskyism" to describe alleged crimes of the Slansky group.

Like the Nazis before them, the Communists apparently are using the Jews as scapegoats to take the blame for failures and to divert attention from their own machinations.

Wynkoop Unit

Members of the Wynkoop Evening unit of the Home Bureau displayed their articles during Home Demonstration Week, April 30 to May 5, at Herzog's, Wall street. The display was in charge of Mrs. Herbert Maxwell, Mrs. Philip McDonald and Mrs. Claude Markle. The regular monthly meeting of the group will be held May 6 at the Home Bureau unit rooms, 410 Broadway at 8 p. m. The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company will show films. All members are requested to attend; there will be a discussion on the June dinner meeting.

UC Achievement Day

Mrs. Anita Lear, specialist in textiles and clothing from the New York State College of Home Economics, main speaker on Achievement Day Friday at the Fair Street Reformed Church, advised one hundred Home Bureau members to spend time in selecting a basic dress to obtain a becoming color, a pleasing but simple design that lends itself to the use of varied accessories. "One need not choose blue or black for the basic dress but any dull, subdued tone of grey, brown, green, purple or red will serve equally well." She suggested color combinations for each of these.

Mrs. William Macke of West Hurley, Mrs. Thomas Turck and Mrs. Fred Fahnrich of Kingston, who recently completed the basic rayon dress training school modelled their dresses and Mrs. Lear showed how accessories should be chosen and worn to obtain the best effect.

Reports Given

Mrs. Lear cautioned against wearing too many "eye-catchers" saying that two is enough for any costume. More than that number is distracting.

Mrs. William Douglas, county chairman, presided at the meeting. Members of the executive committee were introduced and asked people to give reports in the various subject matter fields.

Mrs. Edward Sullivan of Milton, sponsor of foods, introduced Mrs. Vernon Kelley, Mrs. Gustav Immisch and Mrs. J. Meyers who presented a skit entitled The Story the Market Basket Told. Mrs. W. Irving Clarke gave a report on the recent community meals project. Mrs. Allen Potter gave a report on the Christmas greens project. Mrs. Wilbur Van Wyck, sponsor of housing and home furnishings, had Mrs. Leon Christiana, Kerhonkson, show the hooked rugs she had completed. The large rug in the process of completion of Mrs. Charles Huntington of New Paltz, was also shown.

Mrs. George Schwab, sponsor of home management, reported on the sewing screen project. Mrs. Robert Compitello, sponsor of the recreation work, gave a report of happenings in her field.

Mrs. Millard Davis, sponsor for family life, gave a report of the work in her field. Mrs. William Powers of Kingston gave a report for Mrs. Davis on the citizenship work.

At the present time, plans are underway to send a bus from Centerville and one from Modena. Anyone interested in going up for the trip may contact Mrs. Robert Compitello of Saugerties or Mrs. Gershwin Mount of Ardonia.

Marketing News

The Ulster County Home Bureau reports that Highlights, the weekly release prepared by the Extension Service Food Marketing and Institution Management Specialists to carry timely marketing information to institutions, is being widely requested by the institutions in the county. Paralleling the marketing service to newspaper and radio releases, it presents a list of foods in good supply, points on their nutritional value and their use.

Hospitals, boarding and nursing homes are now enrolled to receive Highlights. The managers of several of these institutions say they find the material helpful in planning meals to good advantage. Several have used the recipes, one of which appears weekly, utilizing foods in good supply on the market. Each recipe gives proportions for 25 and 50 servings.

Visit County Home

Mr. Edward Murray, county commissar of public welfare was one of the first to enroll for the service for use in the County Home and Infirmary. The Misses Dorothy Proud and Agnes Carlson, specialists in institution management from the New York State College of Home Economics, who assist in the preparation of Highlights and who were recently in the county training local leaders in the Community Meals project, visited the County Home at Mr. Murray's invitation where they were shown the living quarters, the kitchen, food preparation, serving and storage facilities provided to serve the residents and infirmarians.

Any institution that would like to receive Highlights, a free service, is invited to send a request to the Ulster County Home Bureau, 280 Wall street, Kingston.

Today's Children

Dr. Mary Fisher Langmuir, Director of Child Study at Vassar College, is to be the guest speaker at the annual meeting sponsored by the Ulster County Home Bureau for those interested in child development and family relations. The meeting will be held on Monday evening, May 19, at 8 p. m. at the Reformed Church Hall in Stone Ridge. Dr. Langmuir will discuss Today's Problems for Today's Children, a topic of interest to parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, and anyone who is in any way associated with children.

Mrs. Millard Davis, county sponsor of family life, will act as chairman. A report of the leaders conference recently held for leaders in child development and family relations held at Cornell University will be reviewed by Mrs. Cloyd Elias of Stone Ridge and Mrs. Herbert Bell of Milton.

The family life committee of the Home Bureau has planned the program and an invitation is issued to all who are interested in the county to attend. There will be no admission.

Plan Federation Meeting

The Eastern District Federation of Home Bureaus will hold its annual meeting in Albany on May 13 and 14 when reports will be heard of activity during the past year and of outstanding accomplishments. The various counties participating and the committees report the work in progress.

Registration will take place from 10 to 11:30 a. m. on Tuesday, May 13. The regular program opens at 1:45 p. m. at Chancellor's Hall in the State Education building with Mrs. Elliott Dickerson of Suffolk County presiding. Miss Frances Scudder, state leader of home demonstration agents, will bring greetings from the New York State College of Home Economics and Mrs. Homer Day, president of the State Federation of Home Bureaus, will address the group.

There is a program Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and again on Wednesday, May 14 when the program opens at 9 a. m. and closes at noon.

The Ulster county delegate will be Mrs. William Douglas whose report will consist of comments on the showing of dresses made in the rayon dress class which will be modelled by members of the class.

Mrs. David DuBois, sponsor of the clothing work, reported on the basic dress project.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Robert Compitello and Mrs. Robert Hudler accompanied her.

The Rev. Dean Dykstra gave the invocation.

Flanders Is Freed Of Fugitive Charge

Albany, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—Thomas J. Flanders, private detective accused in Tennessee of kidnaping a boy involved in a custody dispute, today was free of a fugitive from justice charge.

On motion of Flanders' attorney, Judge Martin Schenck of Albany County Court yesterday dismissed the action against the former head of the Pinkerton Detective Agency office here.

Flanders' attorney contended that under New York law, an extradition action was nullified if the governor failed to act within 60 days.

Flanders, 25, surrendered to New York authorities March 4 and pleaded innocent to the fugitive charge, which was based on a Tennessee indictment charging kidnaping.

The Tennessee indictment accused Flanders of kidnaping Clarence Templeton, 9, from his father, Attorney Jerome Templeton of Knoxville, Tenn. The boy was taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Morton M. Z. Lynn, at Albany.

New York courts have awarded custody of the boy to Mrs. Lynn. A Tennessee court, however, gave the father custody.

parties in power. The same sickness of fear and distrust drove the Communists to arrest Vladimir Clementis, former foreign minister, largely because he once had connections with the west. He, like Slansky, has not yet gone on trial. It was the same sickness which caused the Communists to arrest the Associated Press correspondent, William N Oatis, and sentence him to prison on a charge of spying. In the distorted view of a Communist, a newspaperman performing his job is a spy.

While the party struggles, the people shuffle through life in an attitude of hopelessness. Now and then there are reports of some resistance from miners cutting down on production or factory workers silently opposing the speedup of "socialist competition."

Red Bosses Rant

Communist bosses rant against absenteeism and send the worst offenders into forced labor. But in many places the Communists are obliged to move slowly, because of a threat that workers will leave their jobs en masse.

The Russians, as in the other captive nations, are taking over everywhere. In the schools Soviet methods have been installed. All Soviet holidays are observed and school buildings post pictures of Stalin. Only maps printed in the U.S.S.R. may be used.

A school teacher earns about 5,000 crowns a month. To get this job she must be screened, particularly for the higher classes, on knowledge of things Communist and Soviet and on the candidate's record of telling the children constantly "about Stalin."

With her 5,000 crowns a month, the teacher faces prices like these: Gloves cost 550 crowns; shoes, 3,000 to 5,000; nylon stockings, 1,800; pork, rationed, 55 a kilo (two pounds) or 280 a kilo on the free market; beef, 260 a kilo; salami, 1,000; coffee and tea, 2,000 a kilo.

Pressure Is Exerted

The Communist state exerts pressure on all religions, particularly the Roman Catholic. Some three quarters of the country's 12½ millions are Catholics. "Progressive" priests — those persuaded to follow Communist directives—are being installed in the attempt to divorce the Catholics from the Vatican and set up a national church. Archbishop Josef Beran, Roman Catholic primate of Czechoslovakia, and a number of bishops remain in confinement, possibly awaiting trial.

Anti-Semitism is reported getting toward the boiling point, ever since the Slansky affair. Slansky is Jewish. Recently, periodic raids have been reported on the homes of Jews in Bratislava.

The anti-Jewish movement — part of it apparently a frenzied attack on Zionism as a national sentiment dangerous to communism—seems to be getting plenty of official support in high places. The Communist press refers to Jews in a hostile way and to "Jerusalem" as a seat of intrigue. Even Premier Zapotocky has publicly fanned the flames. He uses the term "Judeo-Trotskyism" to describe alleged crimes of the Slansky group.

Like the Nazis before them, the Communists apparently are using the Jews as scapegoats to take the blame for failures and to divert attention from their own machinations.

Home Bureau

Wynkoop Unit

Members of the Wynkoop Evening unit of the Home Bureau displayed their articles during Home Demonstration Week, April 30 to May 5, at Herzog's, Wall street. The display was in charge of Mrs. Herbert Maxwell, Mrs. Philip McDonald and Mrs. Claude Markle. The regular monthly meeting of the group will be held May 6 at the Home Bureau unit rooms, 410 Broadway at 8 p. m. The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company will show films. All members are requested to attend; there will be a discussion on the June dinner meeting.

UC Achievement Day

Mrs. Anita Lear, specialist in textiles and clothing from the New York State College of Home Economics, main speaker on Achievement Day Friday at the Fair Street Reformed Church, advised one hundred Home Bureau members to spend time in selecting a basic dress to obtain a becoming color, a pleasing but simple design that lends itself to the use of varied accessories. "One need not choose blue or black for the basic dress but any dull, subdued tone of grey, brown, green, purple or red will serve equally well." She suggested color combinations for each of these.

Mrs. William Macke of West Hurley, Mrs. Thomas Turck and Mrs. Fred Fahnrich of Kingston, who recently completed the basic rayon dress training school modelled their dresses and Mrs. Lear showed how accessories should be chosen and worn to obtain the best effect.

Reports Given

Mrs. Lear cautioned against wearing too many "eye-catchers" saying that two is enough for any costume. More than that number is distracting.

Mrs. William Douglas, county chairman, presided at the meeting. Members of the executive committee were introduced and asked people to give reports in the various subject matter fields.

Mrs. Edward Sullivan of Milton, sponsor of foods, introduced Mrs. Vernon Kelley, Mrs. Gustav Immisch and Mrs. J. Meyers who presented a skit entitled The Story the Market Basket Told. Mrs. W. Irving Clarke gave a report on the recent community meals project. Mrs. Allen Potter gave a report on the Christmas greens project. Mrs. Wilbur Van Wyck, sponsor of housing and home furnishings, had Mrs. Leon Christiana, Kerhonkson, show the hooked rugs she had completed. The large rug in the process of completion of Mrs. Charles Huntington of New Paltz, was also shown.

Mrs. George Schwab, sponsor of home management, reported on the sewing screen project. Mrs. Robert Compitello, sponsor of the recreation work, gave a report of happenings in her field.

Mrs. Millard Davis, sponsor for family life, gave a report of the work in her field. Mrs. William Powers of Kingston gave a report for Mrs. Davis on the citizenship work.

At the present time, plans are underway to send a bus from Centerville and one from Modena. Anyone interested in going up for the trip may contact Mrs. Robert Compitello of Saugerties or Mrs. Gershwin Mount of Ardonia.

Marketing News

The Ulster County Home Bureau reports that Highlights, the weekly release prepared by the Extension Service Food Marketing and Institution Management Specialists to carry timely marketing information to institutions, is being widely requested by the institutions in the county. Paralleling the marketing service to newspaper and radio releases, it presents a list of foods in good supply, points on their nutritional value and their use.

Hospitals, boarding and nursing homes are now enrolled to receive Highlights. The managers of several of these institutions say they find the material helpful in planning meals to good advantage. Several have used the recipes, one of which appears weekly, utilizing foods in good supply on the market. Each recipe gives proportions for 25 and 50 servings.

Visit County Home

Mr. Edward Murray, county commissar of public welfare was one of the first to enroll for the service for use in the County Home and Infirmary. The Misses Dorothy Proud and Agnes Carlson, specialists in institution management from the New York State College of Home Economics, who assist in the preparation of Highlights and who were recently in the county training local leaders in the Community Meals project, visited the County Home at Mr. Murray's invitation where they were shown the living quarters, the kitchen, food preparation, serving and storage facilities provided to serve the residents and infirmarians.

Any institution that would like to receive Highlights, a free service, is invited to send a request to the Ulster County Home Bureau, 280 Wall street, Kingston.

Today's Children

Dr. Mary Fisher Langmuir, Director of Child Study at Vassar College, is to be the guest speaker at the annual meeting sponsored by the Ulster County Home Bureau for those interested in child development and family relations. The meeting will be held on Monday evening, May 19, at 8 p. m. at the Reformed Church Hall in Stone Ridge. Dr. Langmuir will discuss Today's Problems for Today's Children, a topic of interest to parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, and anyone who is in any way associated with children.

Mrs. Millard Davis, county sponsor of family life, will act as chairman. A report of the leaders conference recently held for leaders in child development and family relations held at Cornell University will be reviewed by Mrs. Cloyd Elias of Stone Ridge and Mrs. Herbert Bell of Milton.

The family life committee of the Home Bureau has planned the program and an invitation is issued to all who are interested in the county to attend. There will be no admission.

Plan Federation Meeting

The Eastern District Federation of Home Bureaus will hold its annual meeting in Albany on May 13 and 14 when reports will be heard of activity during the past year and of outstanding accomplishments. The various counties participating and the committees report the work in progress.

Registration will take place from 10 to 11:30 a. m. on Tuesday, May 13. The regular program opens at 1:45 p. m. at Chancellor's Hall in the State Education building with Mrs. Elliott Dickerson of Suffolk County presiding. Miss Frances Scudder, state leader of home demonstration agents, will bring greetings from the New York State College of Home Economics and Mrs. Homer Day, president of the State Federation of Home Bureaus, will address the group.

There is a program Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and again on Wednesday, May 14 when the program opens at 9 a. m. and closes at noon.

The Ulster county delegate will be Mrs. William Douglas whose report will consist of comments on the showing of dresses made in the rayon dress class which will be modelled by members of the class.

Mrs. David DuBois, sponsor of the clothing work, reported on the basic dress project.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Robert Compitello and Mrs. Robert Hudler accompanied her.

The Rev. Dean Dykstra gave the invocation.

Landau Returns, Admits to Hoax

Boston, May 6 (AP)—David Landau, 18, returned to New York yesterday with his father after admitting his taxi ride to Boston for the supposed purpose of ransoming a friend for $500,000 from behind the Iron Curtain was a hoax.

The Jackson Heights youth, wearing a turtle-neck sweater and with no luggage other than a small black bag, hired the presidential suite of the Hotel Statler—the most expensive in the house—under an assumed name.

Police said he paid both the hotel and the taxi driver with worthless checks and hired three private detectives to protect the half a million dollars he said was in a little black bag for the ransom payoff.

Became Suspicious

Landau came to the attention of police when the taxi driver, Abraham Zwerman of Corona, Queens, became suspicious of the $100 check the youth paid him. Police questioned Landau and found that the black bag contained nothing but some old clothes and a pint of whiskey.

When Landau was charged with registering under an assumed name in court yesterday his attorney said the youth had been under psychological treatment and asked that he be released to his father's custody.

Judge David Kenniston asked the lawyer—"are you suggesting that anyone coming from New York should be turned loose merely on the say-so that they are undergoing psychiatric treatment?"

"Guilty of the charge," said the attorney.

"Twenty-five dollars fine," said the judge.

No other charges were brought against the youth.

Landau Returns, Admits to Hoax

Boston, May 6 (AP)—David Landau, 18, returned to New York yesterday with his father after admitting his taxi ride to Boston for the supposed purpose of ransoming a friend for $500,000 from behind the Iron Curtain was a hoax.

The Jackson Heights youth, wearing a turtle-neck sweater and with no luggage other than a small black bag, hired the presidential suite of the Hotel Statler—the most expensive in the house—under an assumed name.

Police said he paid both the hotel and the taxi driver with worthless checks and hired three private detectives to protect the half a million dollars he said was in a little black bag for the ransom payoff.

Became Suspicious

Landau came to the attention of police when the taxi driver, Abraham Zwerman of Corona, Queens, became suspicious of the $100 check the youth paid him. Police questioned Landau and found that the black bag contained nothing but some old clothes and a pint of whiskey.

When Landau was charged with registering under an assumed name in court yesterday his attorney said the youth had been under psychological treatment and asked that he be released to his father's custody.

Judge David Kenniston asked the lawyer—"are you suggesting that anyone coming from New York should be turned loose merely on the say-so that they are undergoing psychiatric treatment?"

"Guilty of the charge," said the attorney.

"Twenty-five dollars fine," said the judge.

No other charges were brought against the youth.

Esopus Veteran Is Found Dead; Verdict Is Given

The body of Frederick S. Eckert, 25, railroad employe and a veteran of World War 2, was found by his mother about 2 p. m. Monday near the family's home at Esopus.

A verdict of death by suicide was issued by Coroner Ernest A. Kelly after investigation by him and the sheriff's department. Eckert apparently shot himself in the right temple with a .22 calibre rifle, which was found next to the body.

Eckert probably had been dead since Sunday night, the coroner estimated. He had not been missed, because he was believed to have taken a train from Poughkeepsie that night to report for work along the New York Central Railroad line south of that city.

A railroad employe for three years, Eckert was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America. He was born in Union Center, son of Fred E. and May Kuhoupt Eckert, who survive him. Also surviving are two brothers, Clarence F. Eckert of St. Remy, and Milton C. Eckert of Kingston, and one sister, Miss Dorothy M. Eckert, at home.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral home. Burial will be in St. Remy. The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Robert Baines of the Hyde Park Reformed Church.

Ration Some Ammunition

Washington, May 6 (AP)—A dispatch from the Far East Command of the army to headquarters here says that "ammunition is plentiful," but is rationed "to save money and maintain ammunition reserve." The message was received here last Saturday, before testimony yesterday by Gen. J. Lawton Collins to a congressional committee considering military appropriations. In that testimony, Collins said some types of ammunition had been rationed because "production still does not equal normal battle expenditures, and the World War 2 stocks either have been exhausted or have approached exhaustion."

The Mount Horeb Chapter 75, RAM, will hold its next slated convocation Wednesday evening at 31 Albany avenue, at which time, following a short business meeting, Arthur B. Ewig, attorney, will present his rumor clinic, an illustrated talk showing how rumors spread. Refreshments will be served.

Banker, Accused

tion began possibly about three years ago.

"It doesn't seem at the present time that any of this tremendous amount of money was either used for himself or for his family," said Eber.

Earlier, Horley's attorney entered an innocent plea for his client who he said didn't pocket even the smallest amount of the money he is accused of embezzling.

Free in $25,000 bail, Horley awaits action by the county grand jury.

At an emergency meeting of the bank directors yesterday, he said he was "too dazed to think. This all happened so fast. I'll do whatever I can."

No irregularities were found in the last check of the bank's accounts by state and federal reserve officials on Oct. 3, 1951.

The bank's loss is fully covered by insurance, and depositors were assured that their money was safe and would be unaffected.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Area Folklorists Urged to Record Local Folk Tales

Woodstock, May 6—Speaking on the legends of Ulster county, at the annual folklore meeting of the Woodstock Home Bureau at the library, Harry Rigby of Kingston, urged folklorists in the area to seek and record the folk tales of this county.

"This area has been settled for over 300 years," he said, "but we have been remiss in putting the legends down in Ulster county." He went on to cite the wealth of background and tradition from which the tales may be drawn, first the Dutch and English settlers, the German, Irish, Polish and Italian groups who have brought their own folklore to the county, and have gradually been absorbed into the local pattern.

Drawing the dividing line between history and folklore, Rigby said that history is the chronological sequence of events fully documented and authenticated. "Folklore is legend leavened with humor and a little exaggeration, falling into three distinct patterns —ghost stories, superstitions and folk heroes."

Rigby told the engaging tale of the little hobgoblin exorcised from a sailing ship in Kingston by a good dominie and his wife. The goblin became trapped in the steeple of the Dutch Reformed Church while trying to retrieve his cap. It is believed that the hobgoblin is still up there and it is verified in the records of 1870 that a painter died at the foot of the steeple supposedly of painter's colic. Actually the painter had seen the goblin inside the steeple looking through the windows. His presence there has also been verified by good church members, who said the best view of the goblin could be obtained from an old tavern formerly located across the street from the church.

The Town of Hurley, he said, has always fared well in the legend-maker's domain where there exists a Spooks Hollow, and the townsfolk have devised many ways of combating them. In Accord there is a stone house which has a "witch catcher" built into the chimney, a set of iron hooks on which the creature would be impaled should she attempt an entrance.

One tale, Rigby pointed out, not original to this county, which seems to crop up again and again in folk legends is that of the silver bullet being the only weapon effective in striking a witch.

Rigby also related tales of Ulster county's fabulous folk hero, Tom Quick, who after seeing his father murdered and scalped by the Indians, vowed to kill 100 Indians before he died. At his death he was just short of his desired 100, whom he polished off in a variety of ways. The legends of Tom Quick to date have been of a more or less violent nature, but here and there are evidences in stories of his more benign characteristics as well. "This," Rigby said, "is how folk heroes are built."

Other folk tales were contributed by Miss Neva Shultis, chairman of the meeting, Harry J. Siemsen, Sawkill folklorist, George Neher and Sam Eskin. Refreshments were served by members of the Woodstock Home Bureau.

Civic-Minded Folk Asked to Help in Blood Bank Plans

Representatives of business, industrial, and service groups are asked to be present at a Red Cross meeting in the court room of the city hall Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., to plan for recruitment of blood for the armed forces, Richard M. Kalish, donor recruitment chairman has announced.

The Red Cross blood program for the armed forces makes it possible for residents in the city and county to donate blood and help save the lives of wounded combat troops, he said. Red Cross bloodmobiles from New York will make regularly scheduled visits to obtain blood from the donors.

The blood is being collected by the Red Cross for use by the Department of Defense whenever and wherever it is needed. When battles rage among Korean hills and blood is needed for wounded combat troops, the Red Cross will receive demands for whole blood and plasma.

Therefore, Kalish emphasized, as a continuing program, it is necessary to have the cooperation of all groups in the community if the precious lifesaving shipments are to continue to be flown regularly from Red Cross blood centers to combat fronts in Korea.

steel proposals as unstabilizing. He said Truman first okayed a price increase for steel to compensate for the WSB's plan, but then ruled against allowing any sizeable price boost.

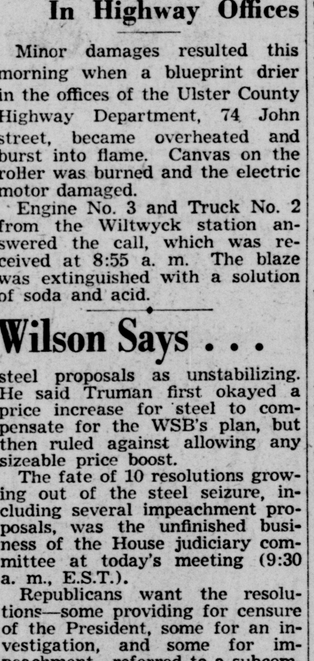

The fate of 10 resolutions growing out of the steel seizure, including several impeachment proposals, was the unfinished business of the House judiciary committee at today's meeting (9:30 a. m., E.S.T.).

Republicans want the resolutions—some providing for censure of the President, some for an investigation, and some for impeachment—referred to a subcommittee for consideration and possible action.

Otherwise, they fear the proposals may be allowed to die without any action at all.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 6 (AP)—The stock market made a little progress today on the basis of a light turnover.

Gains extended from fractions to between 1 and 2 points while losses were held to a fractional range.

Volume was curtailed today but it was better than yesterday when it came to only 860,000 shares, the lowest in around two and a half years.

There were several individual features. Amerada gained around 5 points at times. Company officers at the annual meeting were optimistic about earnings prospects.

Packard reported first quarter earnings amounting to nine cents a share as against 17 cents a year ago, but current business was described as the best in a year. In the second hour a block of 19,500 Packard sold at 4½ up 1/8, and trading continued at that level.

RCA lost a fraction after reporting first quarter earnings amounting to 45 cents a share as compared with 80 cents a year ago.

Uninjured by Car, Woman Tells Police

Eva Whittaker, 26, of 62 Van Buren street, reported to police headquarters early yesterday afternoon that she had been struck by a car as she was crossing Broadway at Henry street. She reported, Lieut. William Leonard said, that she had not been injured and that she had so informed Joseph Schee of East Paterson, N. J., driver of the vehicle which she alleged struck her.

The second settlement in four days in California was reached when the IUPW and Union Oil Company came to an agreement for 1,100 employes in field, pipeline, automotive and purchasing departments throughout the state.

Agreement Terms

Commissioner Oliver E. Goodwin of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said the agreement calls for a 7½ per cent boost of the average wage of $2 per hour, effective last May 1. Of this increase 4.2 per cent is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1952. Shift differentials go up from 4 to 6 cents per hour for afternoon to midnight work and from 6 to 12 cents for midnight to morning work.

Goodwin said the boost is up to 19½ cents per hour.

Earlier the same union announced that a similar agreement, calling for a boost of 7½ per cent was reached with Standard Oil of California.

O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers International with headquarters in Denver, issued a statement saying that anytime "an oil company will offer us 18½ cents in cash, the strike at that company's plant would undoubtedly end in a short time."

The strike was called April 30 as the union asked for an increase of 25 cents per hour, plus shift differentials. The current scale average $2 to 2.10 per hour. An estimated 90,000 workers responded to the strike call.

He said he did, however, represent Lawrence Bardin, manager of the Indianapolis Brewing Co., in a tax case not involving the brewery.

Nunan said he was unable to remember instances of alleged intercession in a number of cases involving alcoholic tax permits while he was commissioner.

"There is a definite conflict between what Ford told us and McGrath's testimony," he said. "And there is probably a greater conflict between the testimony of McGrath and McInerney."

Esopus Veteran Is Found Dead; Verdict Is Given

The body of Frederick S. Eckert, 25, railroad employe and a veteran of World War 2, was found by his mother about 2 p. m. Monday near the family's home at Esopus.

A verdict of death by suicide was issued by Coroner Ernest A. Kelly after investigation by him and the sheriff's department. Eckert apparently shot himself in the right temple with a .22 calibre rifle, which was found next to the body.

Eckert probably had been dead since Sunday night, the coroner estimated. He had not been missed, because he was believed to have taken a train from Poughkeepsie that night to report for work along the New York Central Railroad line south of that city.

A railroad employe for three years, Eckert was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America. He was born in Union Center, son of Fred E. and May Kuhoupt Eckert, who survive him. Also surviving are two brothers, Clarence F. Eckert of St. Remy, and Milton C. Eckert of Kingston, and one sister, Miss Dorothy M. Eckert, at home.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral home. Burial will be in St. Remy. The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Robert Baines of the Hyde Park Reformed Church.

Ration Some Ammunition

Washington, May 6 (AP)—A dispatch from the Far East Command of the army to headquarters here says that "ammunition is plentiful," but is rationed "to save money and maintain ammunition reserve." The message was received here last Saturday, before testimony yesterday by Gen. J. Lawton Collins to a congressional committee considering military appropriations. In that testimony, Collins said some types of ammunition had been rationed because "production still does not equal normal battle expenditures, and the World War 2 stocks either have been exhausted or have approached exhaustion."

Area Folklorists Urged to Record Local Folk Tales

Woodstock, May 6—Speaking on the legends of Ulster county, at the annual folklore meeting of the Woodstock Home Bureau at the library, Harry Rigby of Kingston, urged folklorists in the area to seek and record the folk tales of this county.

"This area has been settled for over 300 years," he said, "but we have been remiss in putting the legends down in Ulster county." He went on to cite the wealth of background and tradition from which the tales may be drawn, first the Dutch and English settlers, the German, Irish, Polish and Italian groups who have brought their own folklore to the county, and have gradually been absorbed into the local pattern.

Drawing the dividing line between history and folklore, Rigby said that history is the chronological sequence of events fully documented and authenticated. "Folklore is legend leavened with humor and a little exaggeration, falling into three distinct patterns —ghost stories, superstitions and folk heroes."

Rigby told the engaging tale of the little hobgoblin exorcised from a sailing ship in Kingston by a good dominie and his wife. The goblin became trapped in the steeple of the Dutch Reformed Church while trying to retrieve his cap. It is believed that the hobgoblin is still up there and it is verified in the records of 1870 that a painter died at the foot of the steeple supposedly of painter's colic. Actually the painter had seen the goblin inside the steeple looking through the windows. His presence there has also been verified by good church members, who said the best view of the goblin could be obtained from an old tavern formerly located across the street from the church.

The Town of Hurley, he said, has always fared well in the legend-maker's domain where there exists a Spooks Hollow, and the townsfolk have devised many ways of combating them. In Accord there is a stone house which has a "witch catcher" built into the chimney, a set of iron hooks on which the creature would be impaled should she attempt an entrance.

One tale, Rigby pointed out, not original to this county, which seems to crop up again and again in folk legends is that of the silver bullet being the only weapon effective in striking a witch.

Rigby also related tales of Ulster county's fabulous folk hero, Tom Quick, who after seeing his father murdered and scalped by the Indians, vowed to kill 100 Indians before he died. At his death he was just short of his desired 100, whom he polished off in a variety of ways. The legends of Tom Quick to date have been of a more or less violent nature, but here and there are evidences in stories of his more benign characteristics as well. "This," Rigby said, "is how folk heroes are built."

Other folk tales were contributed by Miss Neva Shultis, chairman of the meeting, Harry J. Siemsen, Sawkill folklorist, George Neher and Sam Eskin. Refreshments were served by members of the Woodstock Home Bureau.

Fire Company Votes Two New Members

Fire Company No. 1 will participate in the Woodstock Memorial Day parade, and also in the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's convention in Saugerties in July.

Village Notes

Woodstock, May 6—Mrs. Pearl Shultis, a resident of this village two years ago, and her son Warren Shultis, of Swarthmore, Pa., returned here last Saturday after spending the winter in Miami. She will make her permanent home here on Neher street.

Mrs. Henry Barclay and Mrs. Gertrude Benton returned to their home in this village Monday from St. Augustine, Fla., where they have been spending the winter.

General Sees Sights

Rome, May 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower went on a sightseeing tour of Rome today, then paid farewell calls on President Luigi Einaudi and Premier Alcide de Gasperi. Eisenhower, the retiring Atlantic Pact commander, will leave for Paris after a luncheon with Italian leaders. Italy is one of the NATO countries he is visiting prior to his return in June to the United States, where he is seeking the Republican presidential nomination.

WSB May Act in Oil

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) was reported about ready to take some action today in the nationwide oil strike. Two possible courses appeared to be available as the board went into another all-day huddle: (1) to send the dispute back to the White House; and (2) to make a direct appeal to a score of oilworkers unions to call off their strike.

Hit Discrimination

San Francisco, May 6 (AP)—A report adopted last night by the Methodist General Conference asked District of Columbia officials to remove all barriers of racial discrimination in Washington. The report said visitors then would be able to move with a sense of freedom and see democracy in action in the capital.

Before the Refusal

Sen. William Benton (D.-Conn.) (left) talks with his lawyer Theodore Kiendl in the corridor outside the office of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R.-Wis.) in Washington May 5. Benton went to McCarthy's office to give pre-trial testimony in McCarthy's two million dollar libel-slander suit against him. But Benton refused to testify because of a tape-recording device McCarthy insisted upon.

Civic-Minded Folk Asked to Help in Blood Bank Plans

Representatives of business, industrial, and service groups are asked to be present at a Red Cross meeting in the court room of the city hall Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., to plan for recruitment of blood for the armed forces, Richard M. Kalish, donor recruitment chairman has announced.

The Red Cross blood program for the armed forces makes it possible for residents in the city and county to donate blood and help save the lives of wounded combat troops, he said. Red Cross bloodmobiles from New York will make regularly scheduled visits to obtain blood from the donors.

The blood is being collected by the Red Cross for use by the Department of Defense whenever and wherever it is needed. When battles rage among Korean hills and blood is needed for wounded combat troops, the Red Cross will receive demands for whole blood and plasma.

Therefore, Kalish emphasized, as a continuing program, it is necessary to have the cooperation of all groups in the community if the precious lifesaving shipments are to continue to be flown regularly from Red Cross blood centers to combat fronts in Korea.

Drier Catches Fire In Highway Offices

Minor damages resulted this morning when a blueprint drier in the offices of the Ulster County Highway Department, 74 John street, became overheated and burst into flame. Canvas on the roller was burned and the electric motor damaged.

Engine No. 3 and Truck No. 2 from the Wiltwyck station answered the call, which was received at 8:55 a. m. The blaze was extinguished with a solution of soda and acid.

Wilson Says . . .

steel proposals as unstabilizing. He said Truman first okayed a price increase for steel to compensate for the WSB's plan, but then ruled against allowing any sizeable price boost.

The fate of 10 resolutions growing out of the steel seizure, including several impeachment proposals, was the unfinished business of the House judiciary committee at today's meeting (9:30 a. m., E.S.T.).

Republicans want the resolutions—some providing for censure of the President, some for an investigation, and some for impeachment—referred to a subcommittee for consideration and possible action.

Otherwise, they fear the proposals may be allowed to die without any action at all.

If the steel made in the world in 1950 had been divided equally among the inhabitants of the earth, each person would have received about 172 pounds.

Recording Device

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R.Wis.) looks over papers in a Senate office building room May 5 beside a tape-recording device to which Sen. Benton objected in a pre-trial hearing of McCarthy's libel-slander suit against Benton. Benton refused to testify with the device in the room.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 6 (AP)—The stock market made a little progress today on the basis of a light turnover.

Gains extended from fractions to between 1 and 2 points while losses were held to a fractional range.

Volume was curtailed today but it was better than yesterday when it came to only 860,000 shares, the lowest in around two and a half years.

There were several individual features. Amerada gained around 5 points at times. Company officers at the annual meeting were optimistic about earnings prospects.

Packard reported first quarter earnings amounting to nine cents a share as against 17 cents a year ago, but current business was described as the best in a year. In the second hour a block of 19,500 Packard sold at 4½ up 1/8, and trading continued at that level.

RCA lost a fraction after reporting first quarter earnings amounting to 45 cents a share as compared with 80 cents a year ago.

Uninjured by Car, Woman Tells Police

Eva Whittaker, 26, of 62 Van Buren street, reported to police headquarters early yesterday afternoon that she had been struck by a car as she was crossing Broadway at Henry street. She reported, Lieut. William Leonard said, that she had not been injured and that she had so informed Joseph Schee of East Paterson, N. J., driver of the vehicle which she alleged struck her.

The second settlement in four days in California was reached when the IUPW and Union Oil Company came to an agreement for 1,100 employes in field, pipeline, automotive and purchasing departments throughout the state.

Agreement Terms

Commissioner Oliver E. Goodwin of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said the agreement calls for a 7½ per cent boost of the average wage of $2 per hour, effective last May 1. Of this increase 4.2 per cent is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1952. Shift differentials go up from 4 to 6 cents per hour for afternoon to midnight work and from 6 to 12 cents for midnight to morning work.

Goodwin said the boost is up to 19½ cents per hour.

Earlier the same union announced that a similar agreement, calling for a boost of 7½ per cent was reached with Standard Oil of California.

O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers International with headquarters in Denver, issued a statement saying that anytime "an oil company will offer us 18½ cents in cash, the strike at that company's plant would undoubtedly end in a short time."

The strike was called April 30 as the union asked for an increase of 25 cents per hour, plus shift differentials. The current scale average $2 to 2.10 per hour. An estimated 90,000 workers responded to the strike call.

In three specific cases mentioned on the Senate floor by Sen. Williams (D.-Del.)—involving the Indianapolis Brewing Co., the Portage Brewery and the Denmark Brewery — Nunan said he had not represented them and had received no compensation from them.

He said he did, however, represent Lawrence Bardin, manager of the Indianapolis Brewing Co., in a tax case not involving the brewery.

Nunan said he was unable to remember instances of alleged intercession in a number of cases involving alcoholic tax permits while he was commissioner.

Keating said the information disclosed by committee witnesses shows "a disillusioning revelation of the depth to which consideration of the public interest has sunk in top circles in government."

Rep. Hillings (R.-Calif.), another committee member, told newsmen he was not satisfied with Ford's testimony yesterday.

"There is a definite conflict between what Ford told us and McGrath's testimony," he said. "And there is probably a greater conflict between the testimony of McGrath and McInerney."

Lamb Is Arrested

George Lamb, 31, formerly of Garland, North Carolina, was arrested at Milton on Monday by state police, who said they were acting at the request of Sampson County, N. Car., authorities. Troopers of the Highland station said Lamb was wanted in that southern state on charges of robbery and assault with a dangerous weapon. The troopers here had no further information on the charges. Lamb was turned over to the custody of the sheriff to await instructions from North Carolina.

New York, May 6 (AP)—A mother duck and her brood of eight took the right of way on an Idlewild Airport taxi strip today, delaying a Trans World Airlines plane arriving from Pittsburgh. Capt. Health for All

"WONDER DRUGS"

We enjoy many advantages modern living which were unknown to our grandparents. We have, for example, the speed of travel, innumerable labor-saving devices, and the benefits of modern medical science which have have been largely responsible for extending our expected life span some 20 years.

Recent developments in medicine include the discovery and use of the so-called "miracle" or "wonder" drugs which have helped doctors successfully combat previously fatal illnesses.

Among the first of these drugs were those of the "sulfa family." "Sulfa" is the popular name for sulfanilamide and related chemical compounds. Sulfa drugs have proved effective against such diseases as pneumonoccus pneumonia, meningococcus meningitis, streptococcus infections and certain venereal disease.

A little more than a decade ago, a new type of "wonder" drug, penicillin, was developed from a mold, and showed extraordinary power against many types of infections, notably lobar pneumonia, certain types of meningitis, syphilis and empyema. Penicillin was the first of the famous life-saving "antibiotics," or the germ arresting drugs developed from living organisms found in the soil, water, or vegetation.

Streptomycin, developed from a soil fungus, is outstanding as the first antibiotic drug to show promise in treating certain types of tuberculosis. Now usually used with a synthetic compound called PAS, streptomycin today is still our most effective drug in TB treatment.

Among other drugs developed from soil fungus in recent years are chloramphenacol (Chloromycetin), auroomycin, and terramycin. These drugs have been effective in treating several types of germ-causes diseases, including certain of the pneumonias, brucellosis (undultant fever) Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, meningitis—in short, infectious diseases attacking various parts of the body. Meanwhile, the research continuing in laboratories throughout the country will probably result in additional new or improved drugs in time to come.

It is important to remember that each of the new drugs has its special use, administered in a particular way, in certain amounts and under certain circumstances. So while we are fortunate in having access to these life and pain saving drugs, it cannot be overemphasized that they should be used only by under the supervision of the doctor. The new drugs are effective solely in the hands of those trained and qualified to use them.

Health for All

"WONDER DRUGS"

We enjoy many advantages modern living which were unknown to our grandparents. We have, for example, the speed of travel, innumerable labor-saving devices, and the benefits of modern medical science which have have been largely responsible for extending our expected life span some 20 years.

Recent developments in medicine include the discovery and use of the so-called "miracle" or "wonder" drugs which have helped doctors successfully combat previously fatal illnesses.

Among the first of these drugs were those of the "sulfa family." "Sulfa" is the popular name for sulfanilamide and related chemical compounds. Sulfa drugs have proved effective against such diseases as pneumonoccus pneumonia, meningococcus meningitis, streptococcus infections and certain venereal disease.

A little more than a decade ago, a new type of "wonder" drug, penicillin, was developed from a mold, and showed extraordinary power against many types of infections, notably lobar pneumonia, certain types of meningitis, syphilis and empyema. Penicillin was the first of the famous life-saving "antibiotics," or the germ arresting drugs developed from living organisms found in the soil, water, or vegetation.

Streptomycin, developed from a soil fungus, is outstanding as the first antibiotic drug to show promise in treating certain types of tuberculosis. Now usually used with a synthetic compound called PAS, streptomycin today is still our most effective drug in TB treatment.

Among other drugs developed from soil fungus in recent years are chloramphenacol (Chloromycetin), auroomycin, and terramycin. These drugs have been effective in treating several types of germ-causes diseases, including certain of the pneumonias, brucellosis (undultant fever) Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, meningitis—in short, infectious diseases attacking various parts of the body. Meanwhile, the research continuing in laboratories throughout the country will probably result in additional new or improved drugs in time to come.

It is important to remember that each of the new drugs has its special use, administered in a particular way, in certain amounts and under certain circumstances. So while we are fortunate in having access to these life and pain saving drugs, it cannot be overemphasized that they should be used only by under the supervision of the doctor. The new drugs are effective solely in the hands of those trained and qualified to use them.

Against Fluoridation

Editor, The Freeman:

The danger which lies in the fluoridation of Kingston's water supply far outweighs any possible good that could come of it. Voices publicly raised in caution against fluoridation or opposed to it include a Massachusetts dentist and consultant in physiological chemistry, Dr. Paul Manning, who is a life member of the American Dental Association holding a DMD degree from Harvard and a LLB degree from Northeastern University; Dr. C. R. Wells, former president of the American Dental Association, along with three other prominent dentists, Drs. C. T. Betts, Toledo, Ohio; Raymond L. Givardot, Detroit, Mich., and D. C. Badger, New Mexico. Dr. William Gutman, New York city physician, also denounced fluoridation and viewed it as a very real danger to the national health as it cannot be controlled with any degree of safety.

Dr. Manning states in a recent article against fluoridation, "Fluorine is one of the most powerful and corrosive poisons known to man. Inorganic fluorine compounds added to municipal water supplies cannot enter directly into human nutrition. Resistance to decay observed in children's teeth where fluoridation is practiced, is a pathological (diseases) effect, not a nutritional one."

The South American Medical Journal, Italian scientists at the University of Rome and American researchers at the University of Texas, report that fluorine has a disastrous effect upon the kidneys, growth and weight, thyroid glands, makes bones brittle, damages the liver, speeds up the growth of cancerous breast cells and a long list of other ailments traceable to that source.

Too many variables, such as individual susceptibility, water intake variation among individuals, leafy vegetation in industrial areas that absorb fluorine from coal smoke, etc., would increase the concentration of fluorine above the supposedly safe level for many persons.

The case for fluoridation is, in fact, so weakened by these and other admissions that it is difficult to understand why men, who supposedly understand the functions of the human anatomy, can continue to be led into this monstrous hoax.

Shift to Diamonds Was a Real Boner

By OSWALD JACOBY

"I certainly thought I was going to beat that hand," sighed Hard Luck Joe.

Maybe he should have, and maybe you can find his mistake. Joe opened the king of hearts from the West hand, and continued with the ace of hearts, with the eight of spades and calmly returned the nine of spades.

Joe thought about playing a low spade in the hope that his partner could beat the nine, but he eventually saw through the trap and won the trick with the queen of spades. Since dummy was out of hearts, Joe shifted to a diamond.

Dummy won with the ace of diamonds, and another low trump was ducked to Joe's king. Dummy still had a trump to stop the hearts, and it didn't make any difference what Joe returned. Declarer could easily gain the lead to draw two more rounds of trumps, and then the rest of the tricks were his.

Joe wasn't unlucky, of course; he pulled a boner. See if you can spot his mistake before you go on.

It was correct for Joe to lead two rounds of hearts and to win the first trump with the queen. He made his mistake when he shifted to diamonds. He should have kept leading hearts at every opportunity.

Suppose West takes the queen of spades and leads a third heart. Dummy must ruff to let South keep his length in trumps. But now dummy has only one trump. Declarer must let that trump out to give West the king of spades, and now West can lead hearts for the fourth time.

By this time dummy has no more trumps, and South is forced to ruff for the second time. This leaves him with one trump less than West. Hence West must make one of his low trumps as well as his two high trumps. He sets the contract with three trump tricks and one heart.

Military Men Say Cuts Could Harm Fighting Strength

Washington, May 6 (AP)—America's top military men have told Congress that proposed cuts in the armed services budget could disastrously cripple this country's fighting strength around the world.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee yesterday that House cuts already voted in military spending would "wreck" the army's security program.

As an example, he said some important types of ammunition are being rationed to frontline soldiers in Korea "because production does not equal normal battle expenditures." In the face of this, he said "we dare not cut ammunition deliveries."

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, testified that the House cuts could mean Russia would gain military control of the air within two years.

Would Affect Navy

Vice Adm. D. B. Duncan, deputy chief of naval operations, said the reductions would leave the navy "without either the more modern devices for detecting enemy submarines or the best weapons for insuring destruction of those which are discovered."

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, said "any further major cuts, and certainly any further delimitation of expenditures for fiscal year 1953 would be militarily disastrous."

Bradley said the United States and other North Atlantic Treaty nations are attempting to build up their defense by 1954. Their aim, he said, is to discourage Russia from starting a war and to enable the western powers to meet an attack, should one come, without being "knocked out in the first round."

The House has proposed limiting the military to 46 billion dollars for the fiscal year starting July 1 instead of the 52 billions requested.

Cowart to Testify Of Influence Deals In Grain Storage

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Jack I. Cowart, convicted of taking illegal fees as an Agriculture Department official, was listed today as an important witness in a Senate investigation of the department.

Sen. Ellender (D.-La.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee conducting the inquiry, announced he will ask Cowart to tell under oath "what he may know of reported influence deals in the government's grain storage program."

Ellender declined to give details in advance on questions to be asked Cowart, whose dismissal as a top official of the grain storage program caused a stir last winter when Secretary of Agriculture Brannan refused to disclose the reasons for firing him.

Cowart was convicted April 24 of accepting cash payments for his services in a case in which the government was involved. A federal jury recommended leniency.

Specific Accusation

He was specifically accused of accepting $1,374 from Captail Pre-Fabricators, Inc., of Tyler, Tex., for helping it recover $13,974 in claims from the Commodity Credit Corporation, an Agriculture Department division.

Cowart, who was fired from his Agriculture Department job last August, testified that he helped a friend, Charles D. Bridgman, Brownsville, Tex., who also is president of the Texas firm, collect a claim involving freight charges on grain storage facilities.

Brannan himself is a scheduled witness. He asked for a chance to reply to accusations aimed at his department, including one by Sen. Aiken (R.-Vt.) that high officials of the department attempted "a cover-up" of wrongdoings by their staff members.

Military Men Say Cuts Could Harm Fighting Strength

Washington, May 6 (AP)—America's top military men have told Congress that proposed cuts in the armed services budget could disastrously cripple this country's fighting strength around the world.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee yesterday that House cuts already voted in military spending would "wreck" the army's security program.

As an example, he said some important types of ammunition are being rationed to frontline soldiers in Korea "because production does not equal normal battle expenditures." In the face of this, he said "we dare not cut ammunition deliveries."

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, testified that the House cuts could mean Russia would gain military control of the air within two years.

Would Affect Navy

Vice Adm. D. B. Duncan, deputy chief of naval operations, said the reductions would leave the navy "without either the more modern devices for detecting enemy submarines or the best weapons for insuring destruction of those which are discovered."

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, said "any further major cuts, and certainly any further delimitation of expenditures for fiscal year 1953 would be militarily disastrous."

Bradley said the United States and other North Atlantic Treaty nations are attempting to build up their defense by 1954. Their aim, he said, is to discourage Russia from starting a war and to enable the western powers to meet an attack, should one come, without being "knocked out in the first round."

The House has proposed limiting the military to 46 billion dollars for the fiscal year starting July 1 instead of the 52 billions requested.

Cowart to Testify Of Influence Deals In Grain Storage

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Jack I. Cowart, convicted of taking illegal fees as an Agriculture Department official, was listed today as an important witness in a Senate investigation of the department.

Sen. Ellender (D.-La.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee conducting the inquiry, announced he will ask Cowart to tell under oath "what he may know of reported influence deals in the government's grain storage program."

Ellender declined to give details in advance on questions to be asked Cowart, whose dismissal as a top official of the grain storage program caused a stir last winter when Secretary of Agriculture Brannan refused to disclose the reasons for firing him.

Cowart was convicted April 24 of accepting cash payments for his services in a case in which the government was involved. A federal jury recommended leniency.

Mendelssohn Club's 49th Concert Attracts Capacity Audience at KHS Auditorium

The 49th annual concert to be presented by The Mendelssohn Club attracted its usual and appreciative audience at the Kingston High School auditorium Friday night. Joel Dolvin of Loudonville was the conductor and Miss Gretchen Bence, guest soloist.

Mr. Dolvin, associate professor in charge of the music department at RPI, Troy, while new to local audiences is well known for his many concerts as conductor of the RPI Glee Club which has won state and national recognition under his direction. He has a fine stage presence and also possesses a keen ability to produce exceptional blending and shading of voices as exhibited by the Glee Club on this occasion.

The dramatic effect achieved with lighting in The Creation by Richter, in the first group of selections, drew enthusiastic approval. The lights were dimmed in the beginning of the selection and brought up sharply at the passage, "let there be light." A lighted baton used by the conductor added an appropriate and interesting touch.

Miss Bence, a member of the Robert Shaw Chorale, displayed a smooth and sympathetic quality which was sustained throughout her program of varying range and selections. Her lovely contralto voice was projected with ease and a deep sense of the dramatic.

An interesting contrast between the gay and rollicking and the more subdued moods was exceptionally well displayed by the Mendelssohn group in its many selections.

John McCullough with his fine tenor voice assisted the club as soloist in the Russian Picnic by Enders. The contributions by Sam Scudder and Paul Barnum also pleased the large audience.

In Summer Evening, Conductor Dolvin was the soloist and proved himself to be equally at home in this role. Vernon Miller conducted during this selection.

Mrs. Vincent Guido, chairman of the YWCA Hobby Show and Mrs. John Ford, decorating chairman, asked the cooperation of all members and their husbands in making booths for the show.

Fred Johnson gave a talk on interior decorating. "There are no steadfast rules that must be followed in decorating," he said, "as long as one uses good taste." Mr. Johnson warned against "fadism and a choice of decorating schemes that become dated."

Hostesses for the evening were the Mmes. John Gilligan, John Rowland and Henry Drozdowski.

Election of officers will take place at the next meeting on Thursday, May 15. All members have been requested to return their nominating ballots as soon as they are received.

Mendelssohn Club's 49th Concert Attracts Capacity Audience at KHS Auditorium

The 49th annual concert to be presented by The Mendelssohn Club attracted its usual and appreciative audience at the Kingston High School auditorium Friday night. Joel Dolvin of Loudonville was the conductor and Miss Gretchen Bence, guest soloist.

Mr. Dolvin, associate professor in charge of the music department at RPI, Troy, while new to local audiences is well known for his many concerts as conductor of the RPI Glee Club which has won state and national recognition under his direction. He has a fine stage presence and also possesses a keen ability to produce exceptional blending and shading of voices as exhibited by the Glee Club on this occasion.

The dramatic effect achieved with lighting in The Creation by Richter, in the first group of selections, drew enthusiastic approval. The lights were dimmed in the beginning of the selection and brought up sharply at the passage, "let there be light." A lighted baton used by the conductor added an appropriate and interesting touch.

Miss Bence, a member of the Robert Shaw Chorale, displayed a smooth and sympathetic quality which was sustained throughout her program of varying range and selections. Her lovely contralto voice was projected with ease and a deep sense of the dramatic.

An interesting contrast between the gay and rollicking and the more subdued moods was exceptionally well displayed by the Mendelssohn group in its many selections.

John McCullough with his fine tenor voice assisted the club as soloist in the Russian Picnic by Enders. The contributions by Sam Scudder and Paul Barnum also pleased the large audience.

In Summer Evening, Conductor Dolvin was the soloist and proved himself to be equally at home in this role. Vernon Miller conducted during this selection.

Mrs. Vincent Guido, chairman of the YWCA Hobby Show and Mrs. John Ford, decorating chairman, asked the cooperation of all members and their husbands in making booths for the show.

Fred Johnson gave a talk on interior decorating. "There are no steadfast rules that must be followed in decorating," he said, "as long as one uses good taste." Mr. Johnson warned against "fadism and a choice of decorating schemes that become dated."

Hostesses for the evening were the Mmes. John Gilligan, John Rowland and Henry Drozdowski.

Election of officers will take place at the next meeting on Thursday, May 15. All members have been requested to return their nominating ballots as soon as they are received.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Apparently there is some confusion as to our operation which needs clearing up. As to whether or not we are still in the business of moving and storing of household goods the answer is definitely yes, the entire operation being under my supervision.

The moving is being handled by the Smith Ave. Storage Warehouse Moving Co., under the personal supervision of Mr. Frederick G. Faerber, Jr., who is careful, courteous and competent. His experience in the moving and packing of household goods is considerable having been in this business before and since his term of service in the U. S. Navy in the last war.

We are also continuing our long distance operation being a stockholder in and an agent of United Van Lines, Inc., who did approximately seven million dollars worth of business in 1951. Our close connection with this large national moving company permits us to efficiently service shipments to and from any part of the United States and Canada.

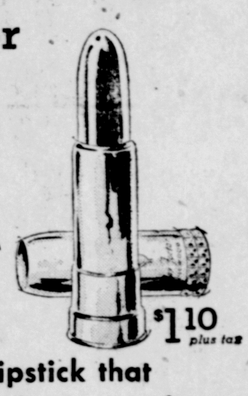

It is a pleasure to announce to our old friends and clients that this arrangement will enable us to give them the same efficient and courteous service that has been rendered in the past. Many thanks to you for your past patronage and please don't forget us in the future.

To those of you who have never used our service if you will give us a trial we know that you will be pleasantly surprised. A telephone call to Kingston 4070 or Saugerties 559 (where we now have a branch office) will be given prompt attention and of course there is no obligation on your part.

Delegates Appointed For National YWCA Chicago Convention

Delegates appointed by the local YWCA to the 19th national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association of the United States are Mrs. Fred Port, vice-president and Miss Lucille S. Palmer, executive director, according to the announcement of Mrs. Theron L. Culver, president. The convention, which is the legislative body of the YWCA and which meets every three years, is held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, May 1 to 7.

"More than three thousand delegates, including 500 Y-Teens," said Mrs. Culver, "will attend from the 1097 community and student associations in the United States as well as visitors from many of the 65 foreign countries in which the YWCA works. This large body of Christian women representing more than 3 million in the United States alone, includes teen-agers, college students, office, factory and farm workers, housewives and professional women.

Sets Goal

"For this historic meeting during a critical period in the world's history, the American YWCA has set as its goal an examination of ways to help bring peace and world understanding and to enrich and give meaning to the lives of women as members of the local and national community and as world citizens."

The Convention will emphasize that the supreme task of this day and generation is the creation of peace, said Mrs. Harrison S. Elliott, general secretary of the YWCA.

A notable group of leaders in religious, national and world affairs will address the Convention on various facets of the Convention theme, "Living Our Faith." The keynote speaker on the opening night was Carlos P. Romulo, new Philippine Ambassador to the United States and permanent delegate from the Philippines to the United Nations, who pointed up the impact that the Christian faith can make on the world today.

Other speakers include Dr. Elton Trueblood, Professor of Philosophy, Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana; Frank L. Weil, recent president of the National Social Welfare Assembly and chairman, President's Committee on Religion and Welfare in the Armed Forces; Dr. William Y. Elliott, Professor of History and Political Science, Harvard University; and Dr. O. Frederick Nolde, Director of the Commission of the Churches on International Affairs.

The YW itself will present some outstanding members. Mrs. Elliott will give a series of four addressed on Our Heritage as Christians, emphasizing as she did in her call to the convention, "Peace has to be born out of travail and pain. It is a new unity achieved out of conflict and differences. Such peace comes from personal and social maturity." Miss Lilace Reid Barnes, president of the World's YWCA, will lead a worship service each morning. Delegates to the World's Council meeting in Lebanon last fall will report on complex problems with which the YWCA deals as a world-wide movement. One evening, Sunday, May 4, will be World Night when women leaders from many lands will discuss issues in their countries.

Action to Be Taken

At business sessions, over which national president of the YWCA will preside, action will be taken on many important matters including: membership in the YWCA; programs for coeds, YW wives, employed young adults, and the expanding defense services; international implications of the interracial charter; and the proposed Centennial Fund for 1955.

Delegates will recommend that the convention endorse a strong public affairs program which warns that some basic freedoms are being denied in this country, and which pledges support, among other things, to preserve our traditional civil liberties; to uphold the United Nations and its work for armament reduction; to strengthen the free world through mutual aid, economic, military, educational and spiritual; to a long-range expanding, point-4 program designed to raise the standard of living in underdeveloped areas; to low-cost housing and slum clearance; to sound health and disability insurance programs; to better standards of work and living conditions for migrants and their inclusion under social security; to federal aid to public education; and to safeguard our youth from the evils of narcotics.

Business, professional, industrial, agricultural and student groups will hold their own national assemblies as a part of the convention and discussion groups for all convention delegates will meet in five sections; three on program, one on public affairs and one on national support.

YWCA Music Group Hears Book Review

Members of the Music Appreciation Group of the Women's Club, meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Petry in Hurley, heard a review of David Ewen's book, Wine, Women and Song. The review was written by Mrs. Ward Brigham and read by Mrs. A. J. Laidlaw.

The subject was Johann Strauss, the younger, and the title was taken from that one of his noted waltzes.

The reviewer dwelt upon the bitter antagonism between the Strauss father and son, which continued throughout the lifetime of the former.

"In spite of frustrations and handicaps, the son rose to far greater fame than his conductor-parent. The toast of cafe society in Europe and in America, 70 years ago, Strauss will forever be known as the waltz king," said the reviewer.

Recordings of the more noted Strauss waltzes, selected and explained by Mrs. Norman Swibold, were enjoyed by the group.

It was announced that all members of the group were invited to attend the two-piano and choral concert to be presented by the Musical Society on Wednesday, May 21, in Bethany Hall.

Following the program, tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Petry and Mrs. Charles Brandt. Mrs. Norman Swibold and Mrs. Richard Morse poured.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 15, at the home of Mrs. Alfred Schmid on Burgevin street.

ADVANTAGE OF CHAPERON

A letter explains: "We are four girls, all in our mid-twenties, who want to take a cottage at the seashore for a few weeks this summer. We would like to know if it is necessary to take an older person along to be a chaperon. Our mothers say we don't have to arrange for one if you say it's all right."

Taking it for granted that you are all persons of intelligence and dignity, I can't imagine that anyone could disapprove of your plan. On the other hand, I think you might be overlooking the advantage of having someone with you who would be considered a chaperon, because in this case you would be free to ask any men you happen to like to the cottage, and to give parties should you want to. Whereas, if you are unchaperoned, you will have to be unreasonably straight-laced to avoid being criticized.

Party in Bridegroom's Absence

Dear Mrs. Post: I was married a little over a month ago. After the shortest of wedding trips my husband left to serve with the armed forces. Here is my problem. In the community where I live, it is customary for the mother of the bride to give a party one month after the wedding for the friends and relatives of the bride and groom who gave them presents. I would like to know if it would be proper to give such a party when my husband cannot be present.

Answer: If the gathering is to thank people for their presents, then of course you would have to follow this custom. If the party is in celebration of your marriage, it seems to me that such a party would in his absence be very distressing.

Congratulating Parents of Adopted Baby

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine has just adopted a baby which is only a few days old. Would it be proper to send her a printed card of congratulation such as the ones sent to new parents on the birth of a baby?

Answer: If you can find one with suitable wording, such as "the arrival of the baby" instead of "the birth of the baby," it would be both proper and pleasing to receive.

* * *

Can the bride's "At Home" card be enclosed with the wedding invitation? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but leaflet E-10, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements," includes details on "At Home" cards. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Stop Feeling Sorry for Yourself, Make Change in Exterior, Says Noted Designer

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

When a woman starts feeling sorry for herself, it's time for a changed, the aches and plains dischange of facade.

When she starts brooding over her humdrum life, her gray hair, that start of a double chin and her spreading hipline, drastic action is needed.

Do Over Exterior

But a quicker, surer cure, says Designer Lilly Dache, is to do over her own exterior.

A new hairdo, a new makeup job, a little body streamlining through diet and exercise, a new hat and a new dress will do wonders for almost any woman's state of mind. Says Lilly:

"Half the vague ailments women complain about are what you call psychosomatic—they're merely the result of being bored, or fed up or discouraged or worried.

"When her mental outlook is changed, the aches and pains disappear. That's probably why psychoanalysis is so popular. Women don't know what's the matter with them, so they go and have a doctor tell them it all started when they were two years old and somebody broke their doll.

"I've found it's quicker, cheaper and more fun to do over the appearance. Sometimes it takes nothing more than a new hat to make the world seem rosy again. Sometimes a complete overhauling job is necessary but when a woman knows she looks well, she almost always starts feeing well and acting well.

Complete Change Occurs

"Women have a wonderful ability to live up to their looks. I have put a sophisticated hat on a dowdy, shy little woman and seen her change before my eyes into a worldly, poised attitude. Even her posture changes. When hairdo, makeup and costume are similarly adjusted, a complete metamorphosis takes place."

Lilly herself is a shining example of her own theory. She goes at everything with a kind of dynamite enthusiasm that blasts all obstacles. Whether it's hat designing or gardening, building a new terrace on her Park avenue penthouse or transplanting wildflowers on her country estate, she has a whale of a good time doing it.

When such activities begin to pall, Lilly knows it's time to turn attention to herself, and she does a thorough job. If she's been wearing her hair long, she cuts it short. If she has added a few extra pounds around the midriff, she takes them off. She tries a new shade of lipstick, puts on a new hat, goes out to some amusing restaurant for dinner with her adoring husband and comes back renewed, ready to plunge into the next project.

Has Bubbling Spirits

She's never been to a psychoanalyst and she abhors pills. But her own bubbling good spirits keep her physical and mental processes running in high. She loves practically everything — working, eating, digging in the earth, entertaining friends, doing over her house, collecting old glass, traveling, talking to children, raising dogs and chickens, learning a new word.

It's all fun to Lilly—and she looks the part.

Child's Confidence Hurt By Half-Baked Decisions

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

A month ago, Jennifer caught cold. She was kept in bed for three days and in the house for two more. On the fifth day, she was sent out into the yard to get some fresh spring air. As her mother zipped Jennifer into her brown snowsuit, she said, "I shouldn't be letting you go outdoors today. If you catch more cold you may get very ill."

Jennifer did not remain in the yard very long. The next day, when she was told to put on her snowsuit, she found that her doll needed a blanket that had been left upstairs. Next, she wanted a glass of water. Thirst quenched, she announced that the snowsuit straps over her shoulders "pulled" her. Finally, after 20 minutes of alibis, impatience, tears, and squirms, Jennifer was sent outside to enjoy herself.

Did she resist because of the hint that fresh air might make her sick? Yes, this fear was part of her objection. Mostly, however, Jennifer was frightened by the idea of having a mother who kept insisting, day after day, on sending her out into this place "where you may get very ill."

A child, Jennifer knows, must trust a mother's judgment on things harmless or hurtful. To find this trusted creature bent on sending out her little girl into the "outdoors" which she herself admits is a dangerous place—well, if you're the child of such a mother, this is an alarming experience. You fight a snowsuit forced on you by a mother like that for all you're worth.

Suppose Jennifer's mother is afraid of her catching more cold? Must we be forever censoring what we say to children because they scare so easily?

No, we don't have to. Children do not scare easily unless we keep them all stirred up with our half-baked decisions. These are indeed trouble-makers, involving us in perpetual, fearful, vacillating procon discussions of the hazards of this possible action against the hazards of another.

If Jennifer's mother had resolved her own doubts about sending her convalescent child outdoors before acting on her half-baked decision, she would have had no doubts sloshing about to harass the youngster with. Jennifer's mother is embattled with her daughter because of indecisiveness.

If we believe that going out will give them more cold, they will be grateful if we keep them in. If, on the other hand, we make up our minds that we think a little fresh air would be fine for them, they will appreciate our sending them out confidently, as though we had respect for our own decision.

If we lack confidence in our action, they lost confidence in it, too. Make this a chronic situation—and you will indeed have a jumpy, angry little boy or girl.

Rules Law Is Invalid

Philadelphia, May 6 (AP)—A six-month-old federal law requiring gamblers to buy a $50 tax stamp was declared unconstitutional today by U. S. District Judge George A. Welsh. Welsh ruled the law was a police measure enacted by Congress under the guise of a tax bill. The decision was handed down on an appeal by Joseph Kehriger, 36, one of seven men facing trial on charges of failing to buy the stamp. In dismissing the action against Kehriger, Welsh said he was not ruling on another section of the act which requires gamblers to pay a 10 per cent tax on their earnings.

Meeting Postponed

Because of the death of Dwight McEntee, president of the official board of Wurts Street Baptist Church, the corporate and business meeting scheduled Thursday evening has been postponed for a week, according to Miss Cora Rightmyer, church clerk.

High School Nine Scores 7-5 Victory Over Middletown High

Telepas Sparkles In Relief Role

George turned in another brilliant relief chore yesterday at Middletown where the Maroons notched their first victory of the season, 7 to 5, over Coach Mac Wagner's nine.

Relieving starter Jim Ferraro with only one out in the first inning, Telepas permitted only five hits in 6 2/3 innings and with airtight support would not have been scored on.

Four of the first six men to face Ferraro collected hits. He retired one batter and walked another before Telepas came on to put out the fire. Telepas had seven assists in the pitcher's box.

Engle Raps Homer

Chuck Engle, Kingston's cleanup swinger, drilled a home run and double to lead the 12-hit attack on veteran Dave Ritter. The circuit clout was a smash to deep right center in the third inning. Catcher Bob Shelightner poled a double for Kingston's other extra base hit.

Kingston's 3-0 lead at the end of the first half of the first frame evaporated quickly when the first three hitters greeted Ferraro with baseknocks. Before Telepas could get the situation under control, the Middies had tied the score at 3-3.

Single markers in the second and third put Coach Burke's swingers ahead, 5-4, at the end of three. The Middies knotted the score at 5-5 in the fourth. Ritter and Telepas then hurled two scoreless innings before the Maroons collected a pair in the top of the seventh.

Five Kingston players collected two hits. Bob Baumer, Joe Erena and Ed Van Loan rapped a pair of singles each. Shelightner had a single and double and Engle was the big gun with his double and homer. Christ socked a double and single for the Middies in the leadoff spot and Dineen had a pair of solo socks.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

A handsome hunk of Irishman from New Zealand threatens to upset the well-laid plans of the wrestling industry. You don't have to go any farther than the municipal auditorium Friday night to see this new TV sensation. Meaning Pat O'Connor.

The gents who decide who wrestles whom and where and for how much like to keep the cycles running smoothly. Just now, for instance, the Lou Thesz cycle is nearing completion and the Vern Gagne cycle is in full swing.

New faces and new glamor titivate the wrestling shows and titillate the customers. Currently, the necessary titivating and titillating are being done by the handsome ex-Minnesota University football ace who drew a record attendance to the municipal auditorium when he showed here several weeks ago.

Gagne is the rare combination of a glamor boy and good wrestler. This brings us to Pat O'Connor whom the promoters realize is a distinct threat to Gagne's lofty stature of the moment.

Butch Levy of Milwaukee, one of the country's top wrestling impressarios, went Down Under in search of new professional talent and saw O'Connor wrestle as an amateur. Levy recognized "oomph" and told Tony Stecher, Twin Cities promoter, to bring the lad over. He said Pat could wrestle and the ladies would go wild over him. That always is a desirable asset for a boxoffice wrestler.

Stecher made O'Connor an offer and about a year ago introduced him to Minneapolis and St. Paul fans. The women squealed and the men cheered. Stecher's gate receipts picked up. This went on for a time until Fred Kohler of Chicago, who has to keep digging up talent for his television chain mat shows on Saturday nights, borrowed O'Connor for a TV appearance.

Right after the TV show, Kohler began to get calls from promoters—Don George in Buffalo, with whom Ted Bayly of Troy, the local promoter is asociated—Sam Muchnick in St. Louis and Toots Mondt in New York.

"Where did you get O'Connor?" demanded one and all. "When can I have him!"

Kohler wanted the big Mick himself. He made a deal with Stecher the first week in April to book Pat for television over 33 stations for six consecutive weeks. He also got consent to film the shows for some 40 other stations.

Bill Goodman, who directs the local Conservation Department office, passes on some information that should be of interest for those nimrods who like to plan vacations for the deer hunting season.

It's back to the old dates in 1952. It will be Nov. 15 through Nov. 30 in the Catskill region, including Ulster county. The Adirondack season will start on October 25 and end on November 30, 1952.

Irked by the disgraceful behavior of some early season anglers, particularly out-of-towners in area waters, the "Three Fishermen of the Freeman"—Roland Post, president; Craig Plough, vice-president; Charlie Goble, secretary, were moved to compose the following rules for behavior entitled, if you please, "Stream Sense":

2. Don't wade a stream within 200 feet of another fisherman.
3. On larger streams, don't cast across another fisherman's feet. (Spinning fishermen, please note).
4. Don't litter the stream with garbage; consider the land owner.
5. Don't act like a "city character."
6. Do slip the undersized fish into a calm spot; but don't throw them into the current.

Local Keglers Have Several Thousand Bucks Riding in State Tourney

Since all of them will take money from the gross prize list, three Kingston teams have $3125 tied up in the state tournament standings at the moment. Fromer Amocos' 3249 is likely to pull down $1500 first place money, plus a sponsor's trophy and individual medals. Alpine, in second place with 3243, will receive $1200, while Hymes Shoes will carry home $425 if their 3193 stands up in eighth position. This seems unlikely at the moment.

Scores are running well over last year's pace at Elmira. Rago's Oxfords of Rochester captured first place with 3196. Already there have been seven totals in the "3200" bracket. Wagner-Adler's 3219 is the state all-time high net series. There were no 1400 doubles at Elmira. Already there have been two rolled at Ruzzo's. Last year's winning total of 1364 has been eclipsed four times and tied twice, with more than a third of the tourney still to go. Singles are being knocked over at a fantastic clip. Eugene Hoffmeister's 833 set a new all-time state high. Twenty keglers posted 700 or better last year; this time the nummer will be doubled. Gross all-events paid down to 1836 last year. You have to shoot better than 1850 now to get into the prize list.

Syracuse's famed New Process Gears made a strong impression on Saturday's big turnout at the Bowlodrome. The top three men—Greg Griffo, Andy Piraino and Vic Giromini are seasoned stylists. They murdered the pocket on alleys 11 and 12 where the pinfall isn't as good as other places in the house. Griffo and Piraino shot 1202 net in the doubles. Griffo packed 619 singles and Piraino had 582. Giromini, who copped the state doubles crown three times with Frank Hermans, the former pugilist, fizzled to a 1048 with his partner, Edward Frizzi, a rising young star in Syracuse bowling circles. Vic rolled a mediocre 519 in the singles.

Shadow D'Angelo, anchor of the old Fisher Body squad of Tarrytown, says he's getting too fat to take that backward leap on the runways. Still he reeled off nine strikes in a row during the team event. Shadow says it was criminal that Kingston's carefully-nurtured bowling reputation had to suffer so badly because of the schedule mixup. D'Angelo is an ABC director out of Westchester county. Sam Schiolino, captain of the Bond Clothes of Rochester, and his partner, Ed Jagla, rolled 1261 in Elmira. And in Kingston? 1261 again. Sciolino's Clothiers made their sponsor happy with a well-in-the-money 3100-plus series. Two keglers qualified for ABC triplicate patches and another knocked off the "double pinochle" split over the weekend.

Bill Landgraf, New York's noted bowling ambassador, made a strong plea before the state committee to add $1000 to the net prize list in each event. He pointed out that the tournament is losing appeal for big name keglers. Landgraf didn't say so, but we can point out that such renowned stars as Jack Zack and Steve Czerwinski, of Buffalo; Allie Brandt of Lockport, holder of the world's record of 886, and John Quinzi, of Rochester, winner of the 1951 Petersen Classic, will be among the missing. John O. Martino, former ABC president and one of the country's foremost "wrong foot" bowlers, and his Markson Furniture crew of Tony Liss, Tony Miller and others will not come to Kingston. Tony Sparando, Dom Suraci, Rickey Knapp, Johnny Dayon, Sid Baum, Whitey Munn, Chic Chicorelli and many other Met Major hotshots have nixed the state meet this year. The tournament has developed into a field day for bowlers under 180 average. No argument there, but is the tenpin marathon really a "state championship tournament?"

High score fever has hit the ABC tournament in Milwaukee. Glance at these leading figures compared to last year's setup: E&B Beer of Detroit (world match game champions) lead with 3115. A total of 3070 won last year and 2742 is still in the money. John Klares and Steve Nagy of Cleveland lead the doubles with a new all-time high of 1453; 1334 won last year and 1110 still pays off. Albert Sharkey, Chicago, current singles leader with 758 is under Al Jouglard's 775 singles blast of 1951, with 569 still paying off. Steve Nagy's 2065 is a new all-time all-events record; 2005 won last year and 1731 is still in the money.

Bridge City Keglers Roll Highest Score

Fuller No. 1 posted 2904 with Tom Rowland hitting 604 gross. Don Vogel anchored with 634 and Leo Everett had 614 gross in Vogel's 2887.

Skeeters, Rochester, 2883; First Baptist Men's Club, Kingston, 2869; Dodgers, Rochester, 2860; Jump's Market, Kingston, 2846; Beichert's Studebakers, Kingston, 2766; Sickler's Delivery, Kingston, 2735; Fuller Sports, Kingston, 2689.

A year ago, the Big Four carried the light-hitting Indians all the way until mid-September. Starting and relieving, it finally broke down under the stretch run burden despite the 20 or more victories racked up by Feller, Wynn and Garcia.

The same four are working at a more killing pace this season. In Cleveland's 19 games, Feller, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia have started all but one. They've also been used in relief four times. Their overall record is 10-6. Last year, none of the Big Four was summoned in relief of a faltering mate until the Indians' 22nd game.

Brissie in Slump

Manager Al Lopez has been forced to use his big guns in relief because Lou Brissie, his No. 1 relief artist, has been slow getting started. Bob Chakales his No. 2 reliefer, has been thumped for eight hits and seven runs in 5 2/3 innings.

Lopez had to use Wynn in relief of Lemon yesterday and the move paid off as the Indians came from behind to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, in 10 innings. Wynn, who started and was knocked out Sunday, yielded one run in three innings and was credited with his fourth victory against one defeat.

A tenth-inning home run by Bobby Avila followed by successive triples by Al Rosen and Ray Boone, produced three Tribe runs, snapped a 1-1 deadlock and hung the season's first defeat on Mel Parnell. The victory boosted the second-place Indians to within one game of the American League-leading Red Sox.

Shea Wins

Righthander Frank Shea and outfielder Archie Wilson, obtained via trade from the New York Yankees Saturday, teamed up to give the Washington Senators a 13-1 victory over the skidding St. Louis Browns in the only night activity in the major leagues.

Shea surrendered one run before retiring in the eighth inning because of a cramped finger to register his first victory. Wilson, who collected five hits Sunday, rapped a double and two singles and drove in five runs to lead the Senators' attack against starter Ned Garver and two relievers.

New York's Giants maintained their slim half-game margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League, making use of their four hits to nip the Chicago Cubs, 3-2. Wes Westrum's two-run homer and Bobby Thompson's run-scoring triple, plus the brilliant relief pitching of Monte Kennedy, earned the Giants their seventh straight victory.

Ralph Branca limited Pittsburgh to four hits as Andy Pafko and Gil Hodges paced the Dodgers to a 5-1 victory with home runs. The game was halted at the end of eight innings by rain. It was the Pirates' fifth straight loss and the 15th in the last 16 games.

All other teams were not scheduled.

Robb Quits Umpire Post

Cincinnati, May 6 (AP) — "The mystery of the resignation of umpire Scotty Robb" was the National League's "best seller" today.

Neither he nor Giles offered any explanation but the gossip immediately went back to the night of April 22 when Robb and Manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cards got into a ruckus in a game here because Robb had ordered Solly Hemus of the Cardinals out of a game.

They did some shoving around of each other and Giles happened to be in Crosley Field to see it.

The next day Stanky was fined $50, Hemus $25 and Giles said Robb was "disciplined" and fined a sum "much greater than the combined fines of the players."

As far as could be determined no major league baseball umpire ever quit his job during the season as abruptly as Robb.

Baseball Meeting

City Baseball League managers will file playing rosters at the meeting scheduled Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the city court room in city hall. Other business will be transacted.

Maxim-Robinson Bout Set June 23

New York, May 6 (AP)—Does Sugar Ray Robinson rate with super champs like Bob Fitzsimmons and Henry Armstrong?

Boxing fans will get the answer June 23 at Yankee Stadium when Robinson, former welterweight champ and current middleweight king, gets a crack at Joey Maxim's light heavyweight crown in a 15-round bout.

If Robinson succeeds, he will become the third man in history to hold three division championships. Fitz won the middle, heavy and light heavy in that order. Hammering Henry held the feather, lightweight and welter titles simultaneously.

Sugar Ray had to give up his welter crown the night he knocked out Jake La Motta to win the 160-pound title. He probably will have to vacate the middleweight championship for a crack at Maxim.

Illinois Kegler Ninth in ABC

Milwaukee, May 6 (AP) — It doesn't sound like much of a feat to say someone tied for ninth place in one of the events of the American Bowling Congress tournament. But the way scores are a bowler has to produce to get above 20th place.

Yesterday's lone change in the minor events came in the all events where a 213-pound plumbing contractor from Springfield, Ill., Banks Haigood, blasted 1,917 to tie Dan McClaren, St. Louis hot shot with the Ziern Antiques.

Someone told me before I came to the tournament "get out there and shoot your weight," Haigood said later. "That's what I did." He averaged 213 for his nine games.

The way scores are stacked, it take a 213 average to break into the top ten in the all events, 212.5 in doubles, 234.1 in singles and a game mark of 987 in the five-man.

In doubles, George McKenzie and Manly Manlum, LaCrosse, Wis., combined for 1,251, best of the day. McKenzie shot 571 in trailing Manlum's 687. Manlum's games were 226, 246 and 215 and team games were 418, 436 and 404.

The singles boss of the day was Robert Gardner of Sandusky, O., with 655 on 207, 247 and 201.

Favorites Win

Yonkers, May 6 (AP)—Danny Direct and Volo Chief sped to victories in both halves of the featured Jerome Pace before 18,727 Yonkers Raceway fans last night. Danny Direct, driven by Vic Rowntree, registered 2:05 to equal the best mile time at Yonkers this spring. The winner paid $2.60. Volo Chief driven by Stanley Dancer defeated Symbol Chance and Merit Chief. He paid $4.60.

Harvey Bostic Shoots '73' at Wiltwyck Club

The rarest thing to athletic perfection in area high school circles must be the Kingston High School golf squad that operates under the aegis of Coach Bob DeFeis.

They reeled off their third straight victory yesterday, crushing Middletown High, 12-0, at the Wiltwyck Golf Club links. To date they have yielded only two points out of a possible 36 in dual meets with Liberty, Poughkeepsie and the Middies.

For the third straight time sharpshooting Harvey Bostic led the squad, this time with a sparkling 73 that features a one-under-par 35 on the back nine.

Bostic was out in 39 and his incoming 34 was the best nine holes racked up by a Maroon golfer to date. His brother, Charley fired 76 with 40-36. Brian Smith posted 82 and Harold Van Aken had a 43-42-85 in the sweep.

The Middies found the Wiltwyck links a backbreaker and only one of the quartet broke 90. Their No. 1 man, Mickey Dineen, shot 7 with a best nine of 41.

In sweeping 12 points for the first time this season the Maroons had a 316 to 365 edge in the stroke department.

The results:

High School Nine Scores 7-5 Victory Over Middletown High

Telepas Sparkles In Relief Role

Don't be surprised if your hear someone refer to young George Telepas as the "Joe Page" of the Kingston High School baseball squad.

George turned in another brilliant relief chore yesterday at Middletown where the Maroons notched their first victory of the season, 7 to 5, over Coach Mac Wagner's nine.

Relieving starter Jim Ferraro with only one out in the first inning, Telepas permitted only five hits in 6 2/3 innings and with airtight support would not have been scored on.

Four of the first six men to face Ferraro collected hits. He retired one batter and walked another before Telepas came on to put out the fire. Telepas had seven assists in the pitcher's box.

Engle Raps Homer

Chuck Engle, Kingston's cleanup swinger, drilled a home run and double to lead the 12-hit attack on veteran Dave Ritter. The circuit clout was a smash to deep right center in the third inning. Catcher Bob Shelightner poled a double for Kingston's other extra base hit.

Kingston's 3-0 lead at the end of the first half of the first frame evaporated quickly when the first three hitters greeted Ferraro with baseknocks. Before Telepas could get the situation under control, the Middies had tied the score at 3-3.

Single markers in the second and third put Coach Burke's swingers ahead, 5-4, at the end of three. The Middies knotted the score at 5-5 in the fourth. Ritter and Telepas then hurled two scoreless innings before the Maroons collected a pair in the top of the seventh.

Five Kingston players collected two hits. Bob Baumer, Joe Erena and Ed Van Loan rapped a pair of singles each. Shelightner had a single and double and Engle was the big gun with his double and homer. Christ socked a double and single for the Middies in the leadoff spot and Dineen had a pair of solo socks.

A handsome hunk of Irishman from New Zealand threatens to upset the well-laid plans of the wrestling industry. You don't have to go any farther than the municipal auditorium Friday night to see this new TV sensation. Meaning Pat O'Connor.

The gents who decide who wrestles whom and where and for how much like to keep the cycles running smoothly. Just now, for instance, the Lou Thesz cycle is nearing completion and the Vern Gagne cycle is in full swing.

New faces and new glamor titivate the wrestling shows and titillate the customers. Currently, the necessary titivating and titillating are being done by the handsome ex-Minnesota University football ace who drew a record attendance to the municipal auditorium when he showed here several weeks ago.

Gagne is the rare combination of a glamor boy and good wrestler. This brings us to Pat O'Connor whom the promoters realize is a distinct threat to Gagne's lofty stature of the moment.

Butch Levy of Milwaukee, one of the country's top wrestling impressarios, went Down Under in search of new professional talent and saw O'Connor wrestle as an amateur. Levy recognized "oomph" and told Tony Stecher, Twin Cities promoter, to bring the lad over. He said Pat could wrestle and the ladies would go wild over him. That always is a desirable asset for a boxoffice wrestler.

Stecher made O'Connor an offer and about a year ago introduced him to Minneapolis and St. Paul fans. The women squealed and the men cheered. Stecher's gate receipts picked up. This went on for a time until Fred Kohler of Chicago, who has to keep digging up talent for his television chain mat shows on Saturday nights, borrowed O'Connor for a TV appearance.

Right after the TV show, Kohler began to get calls from promoters—Don George in Buffalo, with whom Ted Bayly of Troy, the local promoter is asociated—Sam Muchnick in St. Louis and Toots Mondt in New York.

"Where did you get O'Connor?" demanded one and all. "When can I have him!"

Kohler wanted the big Mick himself. He made a deal with Stecher the first week in April to book Pat for television over 33 stations for six consecutive weeks. He also got consent to film the shows for some 40 other stations.

Bill Goodman, who directs the local Conservation Department office, passes on some information that should be of interest for those nimrods who like to plan vacations for the deer hunting season.

It's back to the old dates in 1952. It will be Nov. 15 through Nov. 30 in the Catskill region, including Ulster county. The Adirondack season will start on October 25 and end on November 30, 1952.

Irked by the disgraceful behavior of some early season anglers, particularly out-of-towners in area waters, the "Three Fishermen of the Freeman"—Roland Post, president; Craig Plough, vice-president; Charlie Goble, secretary, were moved to compose the following rules for behavior entitled, if you please, "Stream Sense":

1. Don't fish a pool or spot another angler is on.
2. Don't wade a stream within 200 feet of another fisherman.
3. On larger streams, don't cast across another fisherman's feet. (Spinning fishermen, please note).
4. Don't litter the stream with garbage; consider the land owner.
5. Don't act like a "city character."
6. Do slip the undersized fish into a calm spot; but don't throw them into the current.

Local Keglers Have Several Thousand Bucks Riding in State Tourney

Since all of them will take money from the gross prize list, three Kingston teams have $3125 tied up in the state tournament standings at the moment. Fromer Amocos' 3249 is likely to pull down $1500 first place money, plus a sponsor's trophy and individual medals. Alpine, in second place with 3243, will receive $1200, while Hymes Shoes will carry home $425 if their 3193 stands up in eighth position. This seems unlikely at the moment.

Scores are running well over last year's pace at Elmira. Rago's Oxfords of Rochester captured first place with 3196. Already there have been seven totals in the "3200" bracket. Wagner-Adler's 3219 is the state all-time high net series. There were no 1400 doubles at Elmira. Already there have been two rolled at Ruzzo's. Last year's winning total of 1364 has been eclipsed four times and tied twice, with more than a third of the tourney still to go. Singles are being knocked over at a fantastic clip. Eugene Hoffmeister's 833 set a new all-time state high. Twenty keglers posted 700 or better last year; this time the nummer will be doubled. Gross all-events paid down to 1836 last year. You have to shoot better than 1850 now to get into the prize list.

Syracuse's famed New Process Gears made a strong impression on Saturday's big turnout at the Bowlodrome. The top three men —Greg Griffo, Andy Piraino and Vic Giromini are seasoned stylists. They murdered the pocket on alleys 11 and 12 where the pinfall isn't as good as other places in the house. Griffo and Piraino shot 1202 net in the doubles. Griffo packed 619 singles and Piraino had 582. Giromini, who copped the state doubles crown three times with Frank Hermans, the former pugilist, fizzled to a 1048 with his partner, Edward Frizzi, a rising young star in Syracuse bowling circles. Vic rolled a mediocre 519 in the singles.

Shadow D'Angelo, anchor of the old Fisher Body squad of Tarrytown, says he's getting too fat to take that backward leap on the runways. Still he reeled off nine strikes in a row during the team event. Shadow says it was criminal that Kingston's carefully-nurtured bowling reputation had to suffer so badly because of the schedule mixup. D'Angelo is an ABC director out of Westchester county. Sam Schiolino, captain of the Bond Clothes of Rochester, and his partner, Ed Jagla, rolled 1261 in Elmira. And in Kingston? 1261 again. Sciolino's Clothiers made their sponsor happy with a well-in-the-money 3100-plus series. Two keglers qualified for ABC triplicate patches and another knocked off the "double pinochle" split over the weekend.

Bill Landgraf, New York's noted bowling ambassador, made a strong plea before the state committee to add $1000 to the net prize list in each event. He pointed out that the tournament is losing appeal for big name keglers. Landgraf didn't say so, but we can point out that such renowned stars as Jack Zack and Steve Czerwinski, of Buffalo; Allie Brandt of Lockport, holder of the world's record of 886, and John Quinzi, of Rochester, winner of the 1951 Petersen Classic, will be among the missing. John O. Martino, former ABC president and one of the country's foremost "wrong foot" bowlers, and his Markson Furniture crew of Tony Liss, Tony Miller and others will not come to Kingston. Tony Sparando, Dom Suraci, Rickey Knapp, Johnny Dayon, Sid Baum, Whitey Munn, Chic Chicorelli and many other Met Major hotshots have nixed the state meet this year. The tournament has developed into a field day for bowlers under 180 average. No argument there, but is the tenpin marathon really a "state championship tournament?"

High score fever has hit the ABC tournament in Milwaukee. Glance at these leading figures compared to last year's setup: E&B Beer of Detroit (world match game champions) lead with 3115. A total of 3070 won last year and 2742 is still in the money. John Klares and Steve Nagy of Cleveland lead the doubles with a new all-time high of 1453; 1334 won last year and 1110 still pays off. Albert Sharkey, Chicago, current singles leader with 758 is under Al Jouglard's 775 singles blast of 1951, with 569 still paying off. Steve Nagy's 2065 is a new all-time all-events record; 2005 won last year and 1731 is still in the money.

Can Cleveland's vaunted Big Four, rated the most formidable pitching staff in baseball, continue its iron man role.

Time will tell, of course, but based on last year's results, the answer is "No."

A year ago, the Big Four carried the light-hitting Indians all the way until mid-September. Starting and relieving, it finally broke down under the stretch run burden despite the 20 or more victories racked up by Feller, Wynn and Garcia.

The same four are working at a more killing pace this season. In Cleveland's 19 games, Feller, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia have started all but one. They've also been used in relief four times. Their overall record is 10-6. Last year, none of the Big Four was summoned in relief of a faltering mate until the Indians' 22nd game.

Brissie in Slump

Manager Al Lopez has been forced to use his big guns in relief because Lou Brissie, his No. 1 relief artist, has been slow getting started. Bob Chakales his No. 2 reliefer, has been thumped for eight hits and seven runs in 5 2/3 innings.

Lopez had to use Wynn in relief of Lemon yesterday and the move paid off as the Indians came from behind to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, in 10 innings. Wynn, who started and was knocked out Sunday, yielded one run in three innings and was credited with his fourth victory against one defeat.

A tenth-inning home run by Bobby Avila followed by successive triples by Al Rosen and Ray Boone, produced three Tribe runs, snapped a 1-1 deadlock and hung the season's first defeat on Mel Parnell. The victory boosted the second-place Indians to within one game of the American League-leading Red Sox.

Shea Wins

Righthander Frank Shea and outfielder Archie Wilson, obtained via trade from the New York Yankees Saturday, teamed up to give the Washington Senators a 13-1 victory over the skidding St. Louis Browns in the only night activity in the major leagues.

Shea surrendered one run before retiring in the eighth inning because of a cramped finger to register his first victory. Wilson, who collected five hits Sunday, rapped a double and two singles and drove in five runs to lead the Senators' attack against starter Ned Garver and two relievers.

New York's Giants maintained their slim half-game margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League, making use of their four hits to nip the Chicago Cubs, 3-2. Wes Westrum's two-run homer and Bobby Thompson's run-scoring triple, plus the brilliant relief pitching of Monte Kennedy, earned the Giants their seventh straight victory.

Ralph Branca limited Pittsburgh to four hits as Andy Pafko and Gil Hodges paced the Dodgers to a 5-1 victory with home runs. The game was halted at the end of eight innings by rain. It was the Pirates' fifth straight loss and the 15th in the last 16 games.

All other teams were not scheduled.

Robb Quits Umpire Post

Cincinnati, May 6 (AP) — "The mystery of the resignation of umpire Scotty Robb" was the National League's "best seller" today.

Robb, a senior loop arbiter since 1947, sent league president Warren Giles a terse note yesterday that he was quitting "as of today."

Neither he nor Giles offered any explanation but the gossip immediately went back to the night of April 22 when Robb and Manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cards got into a ruckus in a game here because Robb had ordered Solly Hemus of the Cardinals out of a game.

They did some shoving around of each other and Giles happened to be in Crosley Field to see it.

The next day Stanky was fined $50, Hemus $25 and Giles said Robb was "disciplined" and fined a sum "much greater than the combined fines of the players."

Everything seemed to be reasonably peaceful after that until Robb's sudden resignation yesterday.

As far as could be determined no major league baseball umpire ever quit his job during the season as abruptly as Robb.

Baseball Meeting

City Baseball League managers will file playing rosters at the meeting scheduled Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the city court room in city hall. Other business will be transacted.

Maxim-Robinson Bout Set June 23

New York, May 6 (AP)—Does Sugar Ray Robinson rate with super champs like Bob Fitzsimmons and Henry Armstrong?

Boxing fans will get the answer June 23 at Yankee Stadium when Robinson, former welterweight champ and current middleweight king, gets a crack at Joey Maxim's light heavyweight crown in a 15-round bout.

If Robinson succeeds, he will become the third man in history to hold three division championships. Fitz won the middle, heavy and light heavy in that order. Hammering Henry held the feather, lightweight and welter titles simultaneously.

Sugar Ray had to give up his welter crown the night he knocked out Jake La Motta to win the 160-pound title. He probably will have to vacate the middleweight championship for a crack at Maxim.

Illinois Kegler Ninth in ABC

Milwaukee, May 6 (AP) — It doesn't sound like much of a feat to say someone tied for ninth place in one of the events of the American Bowling Congress tournament. But the way scores are a bowler has to produce to get above 20th place.

Yesterday's lone change in the minor events came in the all events where a 213-pound plumbing contractor from Springfield, Ill., Banks Haigood, blasted 1,917 to tie Dan McClaren, St. Louis hot shot with the Ziern Antiques.

Someone told me before I came to the tournament "get out there and shoot your weight," Haigood said later. "That's what I did." He averaged 213 for his nine games.

Shooting in his sixth ABC after 12 years of bowling, Haigood had 625 in team, 652 in doubles and 640 in singles. He's 45 and holds a 196 average.

The way scores are stacked, it take a 213 average to break into the top ten in the all events, 212.5 in doubles, 234.1 in singles and a game mark of 987 in the five-man.

In doubles, George McKenzie and Manly Manlum, LaCrosse, Wis., combined for 1,251, best of the day. McKenzie shot 571 in trailing Manlum's 687. Manlum's games were 226, 246 and 215 and team games were 418, 436 and 404.

The singles boss of the day was Robert Gardner of Sandusky, O., with 655 on 207, 247 and 201.

Favorites Win

Yonkers, May 6 (AP)—Danny Direct and Volo Chief sped to victories in both halves of the featured Jerome Pace before 18,727 Yonkers Raceway fans last night. Danny Direct, driven by Vic Rowntree, registered 2:05 to equal the best mile time at Yonkers this spring. The winner paid $2.60. Volo Chief driven by Stanley Dancer defeated Symbol Chance and Merit Chief. He paid $4.60.

Harvey Bostic Shoots '73' at Wiltwyck Club

The barest thing to athletic perfection in area high school circles must be the Kingston High School golf squad that operates under the aegis of Coach Bob DeFeis.

They reeled off their third straight victory yesterday, crushing Middletown High, 12-0, at the Wiltwyck Golf Club links. To date they have yielded only two points out of possible 36 in dual meets with Liberty, Poughkeepsie and the Middies.

For the third straight time sharpshooting Harvey Bostic led the squad, this time with a sparkling 73 that features a one-under-par 34 on the back nine.

Bostic was out in 39 and his incoming 34 was the best nine holes racked up by a Maroon golfer to date. His brother, Charley fired a 76 with 40-36. Brian Smith posted 82 and Harold Van Aken had a 43-42-85 in the sweep.

The Middies found the Wiltwyck links a backbreaker and only one of the quartet broke 90. Their No. 1 man, Mickey Dineen, shot 87 with a best nine of 41.

In sweeping 12 points for the first time this season the Maroons had a 316 to 365 edge in the stroke department.

Rettenberg Guest Of Schimmerling

Woodstock, May 6—Milton J. Rettenberg, one of radio and television's most famous pianists, and featured soloist on many programs, was the weekend guest of Hanus A. Schimmerling, pianist and composer, at his Ohayo Mountain home. Rettenberg is also the director of the editorial department of Broadcast Music, Inc., New York, and Broadcast Music, Canada Limited, and Associated Music Publishers, New York.

Rettenberg, who was visiting Woodstock for the first time, said he had completely lost track of the number of radio programs on which he has appeared. Recently, a program director attempted to determine the number of times he has been heard. When he reached the 15,000 mark he abandoned the project. Appearing on all of the networks, Rettenberg has been featured soloist with Andre Kostelanetz, Nathanial Schilkraut, Frank Black, Al Goodman, and among the shows the Family Hour with Rise Stevens and Gladys Swarthout. He also played background music for Fred Allen for eight years, and for eight commerciais of his own.

Rettenberg was responsible for the first publication in this country of a composition entitled Elegy, by Schimmerling, and has since then published many of his other works, the most recent being Four Choruses, based on Slavic folk melodies, for men's chorus, a capella, released by Associated Music Publishers. Included in the choruses are two Ukraine and two Croatian folk melodies. Rettenberg also contributed a paragraph to Schimmerling's recently published book, Folk Dance Music of the Slavic Nations. The book is one of the first textbooks in which is presented a representative background and survey, according to Dr. Sigmund J. Sluszka, in the Polish American Journal, of the folk dance music of the Slavic peoples.

In addition to having won acclaim along the networks as a pianist, Rettenberg is a lawyer, having been admitted to the bar in New York state. Recently, his good friends Pegeen and Ed Fitzgerald on whose TV program he frequently appears, presented him with a ring on which appears the Rettenberg crest—a piano rampant on a field of law books.

Some years ago Rettenberg taught music at a well-known progressive school. His favorite story is concerned with a six-year-old who spurned the various offerings of activities in favor of a piece of drawing paper which he tacked neatly to the drawing board. He began to "scratch about on the paper," and the teacher finally asked him what the drawing represented.

The teacher explained patiently that no one had ever seen God. "He is a spirit," she said, "and even the greatest minds of the world have never seen him. No one knows what he looks like."

Rettenberg has just returned from a trip to Duke University where he gave a lecture on song writing last week.

Club Plans Summer Trapshoot and Bake

Woodstock, May 6—Plans were discussed last Thursday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Fish and Game Club for a trap shoot to be held in July and a clambake in August.

It was announced that a prize of $5 will be awarded to a fisherman who catches the largest brook trout between the dates of May 15 and June 30, inclusive. Eligible to enter the contest are members of the club who are residents of Woodstock, and township boys under 16 years of age who are not licensed fishermen. The prize, which has been donated by Harry Kutzschbach and Benjamin DeGraff, will be awarded at the meeting held at the Clubhouse, July 3.

The next meeting of the club will be held June 5.

Demonstrates Art Of Hand Weaving

Woodstock, May 6—On Thursday night Mrs. Besse Stowall demonstrated the craft of hand weaving for the design techniques class, under the adult education program, in her shop next to the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen. The shop was colorful with items woven by Mrs. Stowall and by members of her vocational weaving class, skeins of gay yarns and floral decorations. The shop contains ten looms of varied sizes and designs, from a small portable inkle loom to the very large Swedish looms. All present had opportunity to try their hands at weaving, and the threading of the loom preparatory to weaving was also shown.

The vocational weaving class will continue through the spring and summer and later added accomodations will make it possible to accept more pupil weavers.

Plans are also under way to organize a vocational class in silk screen to be taught by Woodstock's talented Jerry Jerominek, who teaches the subject at the Saxton-Fells School in Kingston. Jerominek points out that this medium is suitable not only for personal greeting cards, but is applicable to textiles in the form of scarfs, handkerchiefs and draperies, to tiles and to wallpaper squares which can be hung by the housewife herself in her own kitchen or boudoir, and that it has definite commercial value.

If there are enough applicants for the silk screen class, it will begin about May 15, with a 10-week session to July 15, at the Jereominek studio on Tinker street. A fall session of 20 weeks is also contemplated from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15. Persons interested in joining this class are requested to call Mrs. Wangler at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen.

Mrs. Smith Visits The Little Studio

Woodstock, May 6—Mollie Higgins Smith returned Thursday afternoon from a two day trip to New York and reopened her gallery Friday. While in New York Mrs. Smith visited The Little Studio, a new art gallery under the direction of Richard Kollmar, of the "Dorothy and Dick" radio fame. Three of the young artists, whose paintings are included in the group showing currently at the gallery are Jack Faragasso, Jerry Alison and George Passantino, students last summer in the class conducted by Frank J. Reilly at the Art Students League during its summer session here.

Kollmar, who has been studying at the Art Students League in New York, opened his New York gallery with the idea of introducing the "talented unknown artist to the public who up to now have found oil paintings beyond their means." In addition to giving young artists their first exhibition, Kollmar is also providing studio, canvas, paints and models —plus a salary to selected young talent, which permits them to give up their odd jobs and work full time at their chosen profession.

While in New York Mrs. Smith also met her old friend Jessie Ansbacher, whose group of students are now holding an exhibition at the Barzansky Galleries. Over 25 years ago, when Mrs. Smith was associate director of the Anderson Galleries in New York, Jessie Ansbacher held a one-man show of her paintings there. Miss Ansbacher expects to spend this summer in Woodstock.

Mrs. Smith also visited the exhibition of Cezanne's paintings currently showing at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. "It's a show well worth anyone's time to go to New York to see," she reported.

Will Open Nursery School This Summer

Woodstock, May 6—A nursery school for children between the ages of three and six years will be in session during the months of July and August under the direction of Mrs. Millie Bruce on the property of Kenneth Downer in Zena.

Mrs. Bruce, who has taught at both the Bank Street and Down Town Community Schools in New York, has announced that the summer school here will be fully equipped for both indoor and outdoor activities, painting, modeling, blocks, games, housekeeping corners, sandboxes, jungle gym and slide.

Although the regular term is for the months of July and August, Mrs. Bruce will hold a two-weeks' session, beginning June 15, for a limited group.

Included in the exhibit are several of the attractive bright-hued tooth brush rugs, recently completed by members, as well as a selection of fine aluminum trays, gloves and woven bags. A new feature this year are cleverly designed sewing cabinets, which open for convenient easy use, but fold to store away in a small space. There are also a number of caned chairs, as well as a charming little Dutch rocker.

Club Plans Summer Trapshoot and Bake

Woodstock, May 6—Plans were discussed last Thursday night at the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Fish and Game Club for a trap shoot to be held in July and a clambake in August.

It was announced that a prize of $5 will be awarded to a fisherman who catches the largest brook trout between the dates of May 15 and June 30, inclusive. Eligible to enter the contest are members of the club who are residents of Woodstock, and township boys under 16 years of age who are not licensed fishermen. The prize, which has been donated by Harry Kutzschbach and Benjamin DeGraff, will be awarded at the meeting held at the Clubhouse, July 3.

The next meeting of the club will be held June 5.

Will Open Nursery School This Summer

Woodstock, May 6—A nursery school for children between the ages of three and six years will be in session during the months of July and August under the direction of Mrs. Millie Bruce on the property of Kenneth Downer in Zena.

Mrs. Bruce, who has taught at both the Bank Street and Down Town Community Schools in New York, has announced that the summer school here will be fully equipped for both indoor and outdoor activities, painting, modeling, blocks, games, housekeeping corners, sandboxes, jungle gym and slide.

Although the regular term is for the months of July and August, Mrs. Bruce will hold a two-weeks' session, beginning June 15, for a limited group.

Rigby to Address Folklore Meeting

Woodstock, May 6—The annual folklore meeting of the Woodstock Home Bureau was held Monday at the Woodstock Library. Harry Rigby of Kingston spoke on the history of folklore in the Hudson valley. Miss Neva Shultis was chairman of the meeting. Refreshments were served.

Last Thursday afternoon, Miss Helen Rowe, assistant to Miss Everice Parsons, and Mrs. Millard Davis, of the Ulster County Home Bureau in Kingston, came to this village to visit the Woodstock unit's exhibit now on view in the windows of the Woodstock Dairies. Included in the exhibit are several of the attractive bright-hued tooth brush rugs, recently completed by members, as well as a selection of fine aluminum trays, gloves and woven bags. A new feature this year are cleverly designed sewing cabinets, which open for convenient easy use, but fold to store away in a small space. There are also a number of caned chairs, as well as a charming little Dutch rocker.

Animal Disease Warning Is Given

Since the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Canada, the Department of Agriculture and Markets has concentrated on distributing information relative to the disease to cattle producers. The disease could be introduced into New York State through garbage containing infected material, such as meat scraps. The New York hog raiser must therefore be alerted to the disease.

The lesions of the disease in cattle and swine are similar, however the blisters which appear on the snouts of swine do not cause the "slobbering" as seen in cattle. Lameness is the outstanding symptom noted in swine, due to the blisters around and between the toes. Dr. D. H. Udall states, "Lameness in swine should be investigated thoroughly. In these animals the feet are chiefly affected in foot-and-mouth disease, the symptoms are mild, and the disease may readily go undetected."

Garbage feeders are continually confronted with lameness in their swine due to sharp objects in the feeding material. Each lame animal should be examined thoroughly for evidence of blisters on the feet and snout, the department advises and if any doubts exist as to the cause, a veterinarian should be consulted without delay.

Ulster County Associate Agricultural Agent, Robert D. Guzewich, further stated that at this time there is no outbreak of foot and mouth disease in the county or state. However, the danger is here and all dairymen and swine growers should be alert for any signs of trouble in their herds.

Haircuts Are $2.50

Fairbanks, Alaska, May 6 (AP)—Haircuts are up to $2.50 in Fairbanks. The price has been $2. Barbers said the high cost of living in this interior Alaska city forced the increase yesterday. With two major air bases in the area, Fairbanks is a military construction boom city. Wages are high, too. Carpenters, for example, draw $3.14 an hour (and struck yesterday for $3.70) and there's usually a lot of overtime on military projects during the short construction season.

Kennan in Moscow

Moscow, May 6 (AP)—George F. Keenan, 47-year-old specialist in Soviet diplomatic strategy, arrived in Moscow today as the new ambassador from the United States. Keenan arrived by special plane from Berlin and was welcomed by a representative of the Protocol section of the foreign ministry. En route he had stopped in Germany and London for conferences with American officials, obviously to learn the latest details in the drafting of the western powers' reply to the Soviet Union on the question of a German peace treaty.

Anglo Jet Returns

London, May 6 (AP)—Britain's new jet airliner, The Comet, came home casually today to complete its first regular roundtrip flight to South Africa. It had inaugurated the world's first jet passenger service. The Comet, which had left Britain Friday on the 6,724 mile trip to Johannesburg, returned to London Airport this morning at 7:40 a. m. (1:40 a. m. EST). It made the flight home in 23 hours and 40 minutes. The trip south had taken 23 hours and 38 minutes—about two-thirds of the time taken by regular commercial aircraft.

Two-Alarm Fire

New York, May 7 (AP)—A two-alarm fire in a rubber company building on Manhattan's lower west side today injured at least four firemen and sent a heavy pall of black smoke over the area. The blaze was discovered at 9:25 a. m. on a lower floor of the five-story stone building at 159 Duane street housing the Tyer Rubber Company. A second alarm was sounded 20 minutes after the fire was discovered. The four injured firemen were treated at the scene for burns or smoke poisoning.

Wood, steel, glass and even water will burn when placed in contact with fluorine.

Third Brother Held on Charges

Howard S. Graham, 24, of Freehold, Greene county was arrested today in Albany after he refused to take the induction oath at the induction center in that city for military service for religious reasons.

His arrest followed closely upon the detention of his two brothers, Glenn W. and Douglas, for refusing to be inducted April 8, according to the FBI. The brothers, who were arraigned April 25 before U. S. Commissioner Martin Comeau, in this city, are free in $500 bail pending appearance in U. S. District Court, Southern District, New York city.

Howard Graham was taken into custody this morning in Albany, according to Special Agent in Charge Frank V. Battle of the Albany division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Young Graham passed his physical examination and, as his brothers had done before him, he refused the oath upon religious grounds, the FBI said. The Grahams are reported to be members of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Howard Graham was taken before U. S. Commissioner Clark Cipperly in Troy. At the time The Freeman went to press he was attempting to raise the $500 bond the commissioner ruled be posted for his later appearance in a U. S. District Court, the FBI said.

The three are expected to be arraigned in U. S. District Court next month.

Fire Out of Control

Greenport, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—Fire broke out in a men's shop on Main street early today, spread quickly to two adjoining stores and threatened other buildings. Unable to control the flames, Greenport firemen called in fire departments from neighboring Orient, East Marion and Southold to help. Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Bill Goes to Committee

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The $6,900,000,000 foreign aid bill was shunted to the armed services committee today for 10 more days of study before the Senate itself can debate the measure. There was a possibility the committee would make another slash in the total, but Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.) told a reporter he doubted such action would be taken.

Police Testimony Kept Quiet in Hudson Case

Other witnesses today included Sgt. T. W. Raynor and Patrolman Joseph Arkinson of the Hudson police force.

May Strike May 14

New York, May 6 (AP)—Some 70,000 CIO electrical workers will be "free to strike" after May 14 against the General Electric Company, their union president said following the breakdown of wage talks here. The halt in negotiations was announced yesterday by James B. Carey, president of the CIO International Union of Electrical workers (IUE-CIO). Carey said the negotiations were based on a wage reopening clause of its contract which runs to Sept. 15. He added that the union has given 30 days notice of disagreement to the Federal Mediation Service. This notice expires May 14, he said.

90 Dress Firms Shut

New York, May 6 (AP)—More than 90 dress firms were struck in an organizing drive launched yesterday by the New York Dress Joint Board of the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU), a union spokesman said. The announcement was made by Charles S. Zimmerman, who is directing the dress union's campaign to organize the remaining non-union garment companies in the New York metropolitan area. The union said it was throwing all its resources into a campaign to eliminate "open-shop gangsterism" from the dress industry here.

Read Resolution Into Congressional Record

A Kingston Chamber of Commerce resolution in support of the Capehart-Miller bill to provide for private development of electrical power in the Niagara River has been read into the Congressional Record.

Secretary Albert Kurdt of the local Chamber has been so advised in a letter from Congressman William E. Miller in which he enclosed a copy of the issue of the Record dated April 24. The letter pointed out that the resolution had been inserted on Page A2614 of the appendix.

"Needless to say," Miller wrote, "your support of my bill and Senator Capehart's companion bill is sincerely appreciated."

Masons Report Gains in Drive

New York, May 6 (AP)—Progress in a drive against rheumatic fever was reported today at the 171st annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, attended by more than 2,000 delegates from throughout New York state.

The report was presented by Raymond C. Ellis, of Setauket, president of the Masonic Foundation for Medical Research and Human Welfare.

The foundation has granted more than $800,000 the past four years on the cause and cure of rheumatic fever and expects to make another grant of close to $250,000 this year.

Ellis said institutions carrying on the research have "made tremendous progress."

"It is most encouraging that we soon may be able to announce success in our program," he said.

He reported the cost of administering the six-figure program last year was only $400, most of it in travelling expenses for doctors.

Appeals Received

Ellis said that although the purpose of the program was research and not treatment, the foundation had received a number of appeals from parents of fever-stricken children and that in some cases it had been able to arrange hospitalization.

David R. Cunnison, of Bellerose, chairman of the Masonic Brotherhood Fund Campaign, reported it had raised $1,000,000 to build a new infirmary at the Masonic Home in Utica.

The cornerstone was laid April 26. The infirmary will be used by 511 adult members of the home, whose average age is 79.

The membership committee reported membership in the Grand Lodge had risen to 300,973, a gain of 2,516 in the past year.

Largest in World

This is the largest of any Masonic fraternity in the world, it was reported. Grand Lodge formed while the British occupied New York during the Revolutionary War, also is the oldest continuous state Masonic lodge in the United States.

Grand Master Richard A. Rowlands, of Schenectady, who presided at today's sessions, will be guest of honor at a dinner tonight in the Hotel Statler.

Haircuts Are $2.50

Fairbanks, Alaska, May 6 (AP)—Haircuts are up to $2.50 in Fairbanks. The price has been $2. Barbers said the high cost of living in this interior Alaska city forced the increase yesterday. With two major air bases in the area, Fairbanks is a military construction boom city. Wages are high, too. Carpenters, for example, draw $3.14 an hour (and struck yesterday for $3.70) and there's usually a lot of overtime on military projects during the short construction season.

Kennan in Moscow

Moscow, May 6 (AP)—George F. Keenan, 47-year-old specialist in Soviet diplomatic strategy, arrived in Moscow today as the new ambassador from the United States. Keenan arrived by special plane from Berlin and was welcomed by a representative of the Protocol section of the foreign ministry. En route he had stopped in Germany and London for conferences with American officials, obviously to learn the latest details in the drafting of the western powers' reply to the Soviet Union on the question of a German peace treaty.

Anglo Jet Returns

London, May 6 (AP)—Britain's new jet airliner, The Comet, came home casually today to complete its first regular roundtrip flight to South Africa. It had inaugurated the world's first jet passenger service. The Comet, which had left Britain Friday on the 6,724 mile trip to Johannesburg, returned to London Airport this morning at 7:40 a. m. (1:40 a. m. EST). It made the flight home in 23 hours and 40 minutes. The trip south had taken 23 hours and 38 minutes—about two-thirds of the time taken by regular commercial aircraft.

Two-Alarm Fire

New York, May 7 (AP)—A two-alarm fire in a rubber company building on Manhattan's lower west side today injured at least four firemen and sent a heavy pall of black smoke over the area. The blaze was discovered at 9:25 a. m. on a lower floor of the five-story stone building at 159 Duane street housing the Tyer Rubber Company. A second alarm was sounded 20 minutes after the fire was discovered. The four injured firemen were treated at the scene for burns or smoke poisoning.

Wood, steel, glass and even water will burn when placed in contact with fluorine.

Third Brother Held on Charges

Howard S. Graham, 24, of Freehold, Greene county was arrested today in Albany after he refused to take the induction oath at the induction center in that city for military service for religious reasons.

His arrest followed closely upon the detention of his two brothers, Glenn W. and Douglas, for refusing to be inducted April 8, according to the FBI. The brothers, who were arraigned April 25 before U. S. Commissioner Martin Comeau, in this city, are free in $500 bail pending appearance in U. S. District Court, Southern District, New York city.

Howard Graham was taken into custody this morning in Albany, according to Special Agent in Charge Frank V. Battle of the Albany division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Young Graham passed his physical examination and, as his brothers had done before him, he refused, the oath upon religious grounds, the FBI said. The Grahams are reported to be members of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Howard Graham was taken before U. S. Commissioner Clark Cipperly in Troy. At the time The Freeman went to press he was attempting to raise the $500 bond the commissioner ruled be posted for his later appearance in a U. S. District Court, the FBI said.

The three are expected to be arraigned in U. S. District Court next month.

Fire Out of Control

Greenport, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—Fire broke out in a men's shop on Main street early today, spread quickly to two adjoining stores and threatened other buildings. Unable to control the flames, Greenport firemen called in fire departments from neighboring Orient, East Marion and Southold to help. Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Bill Goes to Committee

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The $6,900,000,000 foreign aid bill was shunted to the armed services committee today for 10 more days of study before the Senate itself can debate the measure. There was a possibility the committee would make another slash in the total, but Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.) told a reporter he doubted such action would be taken.

Police Testimony Kept Quiet in Hudson Case

Hudson, N. Y., May 6 (AP)—A convicted numbers game operator appeared today before the special grand jury probing gambling and possible corruption in Columbia county.

Benjamin Goldstein of Hudson who was fined $1,000 two years ago for operating a numbers game, was before the jury less than five minutes.

Other witnesses today included Sgt. T. W. Raynor and Patrolman Joseph Arkinson of the Hudson police force.

May Strike May 14

New York, May 6 (AP)—Some 70,000 CIO electrical workers will be "free to strike" after May 14 against the General Electric Company, their union president said following the breakdown of wage talks here. The halt in negotiations was announced yesterday by James B. Carey, president of the CIO International Union of Electrical workers (IUE-CIO). Carey said the negotiations were based on a wage reopening clause of its contract which runs to Sept. 15. He added that the union has given 30 days notice of disagreement to the Federal Mediation Service. This notice expires May 14, he said.

90 Dress Firms Shut

New York, May 6 (AP)—More than 90 dress firms were struck in an organizing drive launched yesterday by the New York Dress Joint Board of the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU), a union spokesman said. The announcement was made by Charles S. Zimmerman, who is directing the dress union's campaign to organize the remaining non-union garment companies in the New York metropolitan area. The union said it was throwing all its resources into a campaign to eliminate "open-shop gangsterism" from the dress industry here.

Read Resolution Into Congressional Record

A Kingston Chamber of Commerce resolution in support of the Capehart-Miller bill to provide for private development of electrical power in the Niagara River has been read into the Congressional Record.

Secretary Albert Kurdt of the local Chamber has been so advised in a letter from Congressman William E. Miller in which he enclosed a copy of the issue of the Record dated April 24. The letter pointed out that the resolution had been inserted on Page A2614 of the appendix.

"Needless to say," Miller wrote, "your support of my bill and Senator Capehart's companion bill is sincerely appreciated."

Masons Report Gains in Drive

New York, May 6 (AP)—Progress in a drive against rheumatic fever was reported today at the 171st annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, attended by more than 2,000 delegates from throughout New York state.

The report was presented by Raymond C. Ellis, of Setauket, president of the Masonic Foundation for Medical Research and Human Welfare.

The foundation has granted more than $800,000 the past four years on the cause and cure of rheumatic fever and expects to make another grant of close to $250,000 this year.

Ellis said institutions carrying on the research have "made tremendous progress."

"It is most encouraging that we soon may be able to announce success in our program," he said.

He reported the cost of administering the six-figure program last year was only $400, most of it in travelling expenses for doctors.

Appeals Received

Ellis said that although the purpose of the program was research and not treatment, the foundation had received a number of appeals from parents of fever-stricken children and that in some cases it had been able to arrange hospitalization.

David R. Cunnison, of Bellerose, chairman of the Masonic Brotherhood Fund Campaign, reported it had raised $1,000,000 to build a new infirmary at the Masonic Home in Utica.

The cornerstone was laid April 26. The infirmary will be used by 511 adult members of the home, whose average age is 79.

The membership committee reported membership in the Grand Lodge had risen to 300,973, a gain of 2,516 in the past year.

Largest in World

This is the largest of any Masonic fraternity in the world, it was reported. Grand Lodge formed while the British occupied New York during the Revolutionary War, also is the oldest continuous state Masonic lodge in the United States.

Grand Master Richard A. Rowlands, of Schenectady, who presided at today's sessions, will be guest of honor at a dinner tonight in the Hotel Statler.

The annual meeting, known as the communication, will conclude with election and installation of officers on Thursday afternoon.

Sweden with about 24 telephones for every 100 people is second only to the United States in the number of phones per person.

Annual Prizes Given in New York For Varied Works

New York, May 6 (AP) — His novel of the wartime navy, "The Caine Mutiny," has brought Herman Wouk the annual Pulitzer prize for fiction.

The stage drama award has gone to Joseph Kramm for his play, "The Shrike," a story of an estranged husband and wife set in the psychiatric ward of a city hospital.

In the newspaper field, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch's exposure of corruption in the Internal Revenue Department has won that daily its fifth Pulitzer prize, the most awarded to a single newspaper.

John M. Hightower, foreign affairs reporter of the Associated Press, received the annual prize for international reporting for "the sustained quality of his coverage of news of international affairs" during 1951.

Selections for the 1952 Pulitzer awards were announced yesterday by trustees of Columbia University. The awards in various fields of endeavor were established by Joseph Pulitzer, the late publisher, in a bequest to Columbia.

Pulitzer founded the Post-Dispatch, which won prizes in 1937, 1941, 1948 and 1950. The five citations of the St. Louis paper were for meritorious public service.

Racket Stories Win

The San Francisco Chronicle's George De Carvalho was cited for local reporting for his stories of a "ransom racket" extorting money from Chinese in America who had relations in Communist China.

The Chronicle credited the Associated Press with an assist for De Carvalho's prize: "The prize-winning story had its origin in an item carried by the Associated Press out of San Jose (Calif.) reporting a ransom payment by a Chinese in that city." The information in the AP story, which inspired the Chronicle to search San Francisco's big Chinatown for similar payments, was provided by the San Jose Mercury News.

Anthony Leviero, of the New York Times, was awarded the prize for national reporting. Leviero wrote an exclusive report on discussions between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur at Wake Island during their 1950 conference. It was published April 21, 1951, shortly after Truman ousted the general as Far Eastern commander.

Editorial Citation

Cited for the editorial writing award was Louis La Coss, of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, on the basis of his editorial entitled, "The Low State of Public Morals." It dealt with the West Point cheating scandals, the basketball fixes, the exposures of government corruption, and the U. S. Senate Crime Committee hearings.

Six photos of a Drake-Oklahoma A. & M. football game, taken in sequence by John Robinson and Don Ultang, of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, were selected as the year's best news photograph. The pictures showed Johnny Bright, a star Negro player of Drake, receiving a broken jaw in a scrimmage.

Winning Cartoon

Fred L. Packer, of the New York Daily Mirror, was named top cartoonist for his "Your Editors Ought to Have More Sense Than to Print What I say," a cartoon showing an irate President Truman talking to Washington newsmen. The occasion was Truman's denunciation of newsmen for printing certain military stories and photos which it later turned out, actually had been released by the President and various government agencies.

Awards announced yesterday were the 35th annual Pulitzer prizes. They were for this year but covered work completed or published last year.

For the first time this year, individual prizes in journalism were worth $1,000 apiece. Individual awards in the fields of arts and letters remained at $500 each. Winning newspapers receive gold plaques.

Prize for Novel

Wins Prize

Annual Prizes Given in New York For Varied Works

New York, May 6 (AP) — His novel of the wartime navy, "The Caine Mutiny," has brought Herman Wouk the annual Pulitzer prize for fiction.

The stage drama award has gone to Joseph Kramm for his play, "The Shrike," a story of an estranged husband and wife set in the psychiatric ward of a city hospital.

In the newspaper field, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch's exposure of corruption in the Internal Revenue Department has won that daily its fifth Pulitzer prize, the most awarded to a single newspaper.

John M. Hightower, foreign affairs reporter of the Associated Press, received the annual prize for international reporting for "the sustained quality of his coverage of news of international affairs" during 1951.

Selections for the 1952 Pulitzer awards were announced yesterday by trustees of Columbia University. The awards in various fields of endeavor were established by Joseph Pulitzer, the late publisher, in a bequest to Columbia.

Pulitzer founded the Post-Dispatch, which won prizes in 1937, 1941, 1948 and 1950. The five citations of the St. Louis paper were for meritorious public service.

Racket Stories Win

The San Francisco Chronicle's George De Carvalho was cited for local reporting for his stories of a "ransom racket" extorting money from Chinese in America who had relations in Communist China.

The Chronicle credited the Associated Press with an assist for De Carvalho's prize: "The prize-winning story had its origin in an item carried by the Associated Press out of San Jose (Calif.) reporting a ransom payment by a Chinese in that city." The information in the AP story, which inspired the Chronicle to search San Francisco's big Chinatown for similar payments, was provided by the San Jose Mercury News.

Anthony Leviero, of the New York Times, was awarded the prize for national reporting. Leviero wrote an exclusive report on discussions between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur at Wake Island during their 1950 conference. It was published April 21, 1951, shortly after Truman ousted the general as Far Eastern commander.

Editorial Citation

Cited for the editorial writing award was Louis La Coss, of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, on the basis of his editorial entitled, "The Low State of Public Morals." It dealt with the West Point cheating scandals, the basketball fixes, the exposures of government corruption, and the U. S. Senate Crime Committee hearings.

Winning Cartoon

Fred L. Packer, of the New York Daily Mirror, was named top cartoonist for his "Your Editors Ought to Have More Sense Than to Print What I say," a cartoon showing an irate President Truman talking to Washington newsmen. The occasion was Truman's denunciation of newsmen for printing certain military stories and photos which it later turned out, actually had been released by the President and various government agencies.

Awards announced yesterday were the 35th annual Pulitzer prizes. They were for this year but covered work completed or published last year.

Pulitzer, who published the old New York World as well as the Post Dispatch, left 2½ million dollars to Columbia to establish the awards for excellence in arts, letters and journalism.

For the first time this year, individual prizes in journalism were worth $1,000 apiece. Individual awards in the fields of arts and letters remained at $500 each. Winning newspapers receive gold plaques.

Prize for Novel

Wins Prize

John M. Hightower (above) of The Associated Press staff in Washington was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for international reporting "for the sustained quality of the coverage of news of international affairs during the year."
